Dismiss 192 GC teachers; administrators' pay cut 10%

By BILL WINTER

The deficit-plagued Granite City Board of Education reduced administrators' pay by 10 percent Tuesday night and honorably dismissed 192 teachers. Both actions are for the July 1983-June 1984 school year.

Describing the staff reduction as an "agony," Superintendent B. J. Davis said it is an unavoidable step. He noted that, even with the cutbacks, a full financial "turn-around" will not be achieved in '83-'84.

The list of 192 being dismissed ranges from hiring dates of Jan. 4, 1982, back to Jan. 22, 1968. State law requires that such dismissals be made in reverse order of seniority, subject to the need for various teaching specialties.

At a public hearing on the dismissals, Ben Schutzenhofer, first vice president of the Granite City Federation of Teachers—and one of the 192 being dismissed—described the staff reduction as having "a devastating impact on the ability of teachers to serve students in their classrooms."

He speculated that from a present average of 22 to 25 students per class, the number may rise to 35, and that the average age of active teachers may increase to nearly 50 years.

The 10 percent lower salaries, effective July 1, will apply to Supt. Davis and 33 other administrators.

No mention was made of the pay of school employees represented by bargaining agreements. All existing agreements expire in June, and negotiations are to be conducted this spring or summer on the terms of new pacts.

Teachers being dismissed total 74 at the high schools (49 South and 34 North), 26 at the juniors highs (11 Coolidge, eight Prather and seven Grigsby), one special education faculty member (a psychologist) and 91 elementary school teachers (12 Logan, 11 each at Parkview and Wilson, nine Lake, eight each at Johnson and Marshall, six Nameoki, five each at Emerson, Frohardt and Niedringhaus, four each at Webster and Maryville and three at Mitchell).

The board abolished the position of physical education coordinator and reclassified Leigh A. Heller as a teacher.

Principals reclassified as teachers were Calvin L. Bartels of Prather Junior High School, Richard R. Ault of

Layoff notices to 23 Venice teachers

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Notices of honorable dismissal for 23 faculty members in the Venice School District were authorized Monday night by the Venice Board of Education. The action followed a public hearing.

Seventeen teachers at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center and six at the Venice grade and high schools will receive honorable dismissal notices this week. The notices, however, do not necessarily mean that the teachers will not be rehired next school year.

School districts are required to notify teachers of their possible dismissal within 60 days of the end of a school year and must hold a public hearing, in compliance with Illinois Law.

The 17 faculty members at the adult vocational-educational school getting notices comprise the entire staff, with exception of two vocational certified instructors in the welding and machine shops, Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers said.

Neither of the two instructors is in a position to "bump" a teacher in the public schools, should financing of the adult center be discontinued, he explained.

The Venice School District has a total of 31 teaching personnel in the elementary and high schools and 17, plus the two certified instructors, at Venice-Lincoln Technical.

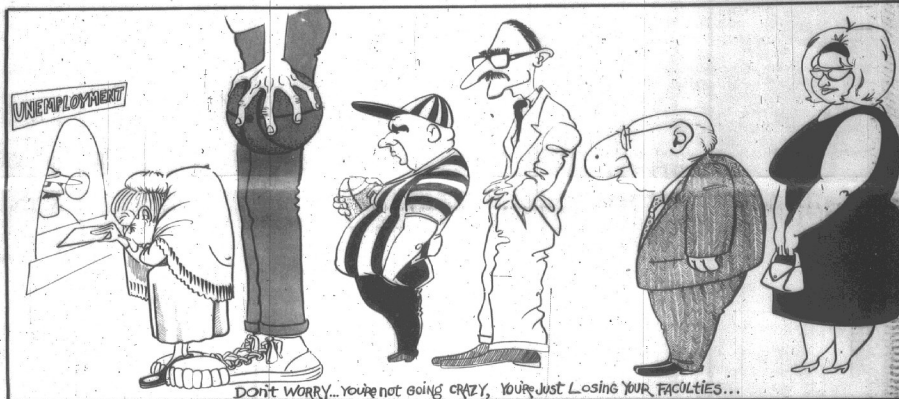

Most of those receiving notices have 16 or fewer years of teaching experience. However, one teacher at Venice-Lincoln has 25 years in the teaching field, the administrator said.

"For at least the past 13 years, we've had to issue the notices to teachers at the technical center to protect ourselves in the event there is further cutback of funds," Superintendent Vickers said.

Venice-Lincoln is financed with federal and state funds and administered by the local school district. Last March, honorable dismissal notices were delivered to 23 Venice teachers, most of whom were subsequently rehired.

Forty dismissals were issued to faculty.

Free eggs for needy on Friday

In an effort to make the Easter season brighter for the unemployed of the Quad-City area, free eggs will be given away Friday afternoon in Nameoki Village Shopping Center to those who display unemployment cards.

An anonymous donor has given $1,000 to purchase 1,200 dozen eggs for the giveaway. Three dozen eggs will be given to each family displaying an unemployment card.

Volunteers of the First Presbyterian Church in Edwardsville will be in the parking lot of Nameoki Village, near the Kroger Store, from noon until 4 p.m. Friday, or as long as the free eggs last. The eggs will be given away on a first-come, first-served basis.

Bedwell resigns

By DONNA KIMBRO

Cletus Bedwell, Chouteau Township tax collector for 22 years, submitted his formal letter of resignation to the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees for reading at the official meeting Monday night.

Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks read the letter that stated, in part, "It is with a great deal of regret, but because of failing health and upon advice of my doctor, it has become necessary that I resign my position as Chouteau Township tax collector effective May 1, 1983."

"A fantastic amount of progress and a great number of achievements have been made over these 22 years. These progresses and achievements were not made by accident, but by careful planning and hard work by township officials who care about the people they represent," Bedwell commented.

Bedwell served 16 years as a Chouteau Town board member prior to being elected tax collector. He also served as an elected official of Local Union 3843, United Steelworkers of America for 17 years and retired from Laclede Steel Co., after 30 years service.

He and his wife reside in South Roxana.

After reading the letter, Supervisor Sparks said he has received one application for the position and he advised the Board of Trustees that if they have anyone interested and qualified for the position to suggest they send a written resume to the township office at 697 N. Thorngate Drive, Mitchell, for consideration.

Sparks led a discussion on the progress of a canvass of residents in the Brooks Addition, who are being asked to complete a form which, in turn, will be used to apply for Community Development Funds, for that area.

Each householder is to list his name, age, race, number of people residing in the home and an estimated annual income. To be eligible for Community Development funding, 90 to 95 percent of the residents must complete the form, the supervisor explained.

The township has requested that the Brooks Addition be considered a neighborhood strategy area, meaning that the section is occupied by residents in a low-income bracket who need

Venice burglars active

Five burglaries were reported to Venice police during the weekend, including a break-in at the Venice Public Schools.

Custodian Ed Salmone reported finding five windows open at the school Sunday. A window had been pried open on the door to Principal John Rush's office, which had been ransacked.

The intruders broke two doors to get inside and ransacked the office of Assistant Principal Clarence Hand, reports said. Three color-operated machines also had been forcibly entered.

Tom McCosky, 433 Lincoln Ave., Venice, arrived home about 3 a.m. to find the rear door open, he reported early this week. A butcher knife from the dwelling was discovered laying on the ground outside the door. Entry was gained through a basement window.

Immediately reported missing were a bottle of wine, a fire department signaling device and a gold class ring with a red stone from Assumption High School.

An inventory was to be taken at the home of Ann Hartman, 434 Lincoln Ave., Venice, where a burglary was reported early this week.

Several coin rings, a gold ring and a canvas gym bag were stolen in a burglary at the home of Bob Shambro, 609 Broadway, Venice, he reported during the weekend. The house, which had been ransacked, was entered by breaking a window and cutting the screen on a rear door.

Nothing was immediately found to be missing at the Ora Holloway home, 433 Lincoln Ave., Venice, where a break-in was reported during the weekend.

Venice officers are continuing to investigate the rash of burglaries.

VANDALS ENTER HOME TAKE SEVERAL ITEMS

Vandals took $2,500 worth of items from the home of Russell D. Williams, 3700 Ruth St., late last week, it was reported to Madison County sheriff's deputies.

Entry was gained through the back kitchen door. Taken were a microwave oven, a guitar, walkie talkies, a small stereo and a 16-gauge shotgun.

Delay in response to accident may result in mutual aid talks

By GARY SCHNEIDER

A tragic incident this month in which a young woman was trapped in her car for 20 minutes without rescue or medical attention, despite serious injuries, may result in better cooperation between area ambulance services and fire department rescue units, Ed Morton, manager of the Granite City Division of Campbell Ambulance Service said last week.

Morton said discussions are being initiated with Nankook Township Supervisor Harry Briggs and with area ambulance and rescue services to form a "mutual aid pact," so the trapped and injured can get prompt aid from the nearest emergency service after an accident.

The young woman, Christina Corp, 16, was listed in serious condition in the intensive care unit at Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis. She was taken there that night.

A late-season snowstorm coated most Quad-City area roads with ice and several major accidents followed. The relatively new Campbell Ambulance Service found itself swamped with calls and had no way of knowing which had serious injuries involved and which were minor injuries. Within 45 minutes, the service was dispatched to six accidents, two of a serious nature involving people trapped in cars.

Extra Campbell ambulance crews were called out from their homes in Granite City, but the stand-by crew assigned to the most serious accident had to drive on icy streets to Pontoon Beach to get an ambulance and then drive from Pontoon Beach to the Cambridge Avenue viaduct southeast of Madison, where they found the young woman trapped and seriously injured.

The Madison Fire Department Rescue Squad was summoned at that point to free her and she was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, approximately 30 minutes after the accident.

Morton stressed that the ambulance had to wait at the scene more than 10 minutes for the Madison Rescue Squad to arrive and free her. "I don't think 20 minutes (between the initial call and the time the ambulance arrived) is out of line, considering the condition of the roads that night," Morton said.

He noted, however, that faster emergency service could have been provided by the Madison County sheriff's deputies, who were first on the scene, or the state police troopers who handled the accident had immediately called Madison for a rescue unit to free the girl, who was pinned in the back seat.

"When the rescue truck goes out, a (Madison) ambulance does too. They (the officers on the scene) should know better. The first department there should evaluate the scene and determine if a rescue truck is needed. That's their duty, not ours," Morton said.

Morton added that he would like to see a mutual aid pact, so officers on an accident scene can determine what ambulance service can provide the quickest service. "I'm for it 100 percent. All I am interested in is the care and transportation of the people," he added.

Without such a pact, he concedes, 20-minute waits for an ambulance may not be uncommon during future ice storms, since Campbell operates only three ambulances and they may all be busy with other calls are required.

"I know one thing. When we have weather like that again, I will have all my men ready, in their ambulances," he added.

However, he noted, during normal weather, "It is impossible for a privately-owned ambulance service, such as ours, to have the ambulances manned 24 hours a day. We have to call people out."

New offer to bus drivers

Charlie Riley, federal mediator assigned to the negotiations between the Bi-State Development Agency and Division 788 of the Amalgamated Transit Union, has announced that, after a long session last week, the union received an agency proposal which will be taken back to its membership.

No details of the proposal will be released, pending approval or disapproval by the union membership and the Bi-State board of commissioners.

The parties are currently making preparations for presentation to their respective sides, and the results will not be known for about a week, Riley estimated.

By verbal agreement, the current contract terms have been further extended to permit time for both parties to make these presentations. Division 788 represents bus operators and maintenance personnel of the Bi-State Transit System. There are about 1,100 bus operators and 370 mechanics and service personnel.

Honor Wilkins' sports medicine activities here

Dr. George T. Wilkins received an Illinois State Medical Society team physician award at ceremonies last week.

One of six physicians named as award recipients, he has served as team physician for more than two decades at the Granite City high schools.

Letters nominating him for the award praised his commitment to the field of sports medicine, stating in part:

"Through Dr. Wilkins' contributions over the past 20 years, he has earned the respect and appreciation of the coaching staff, parents and student athletes of our school district. He is not only considered to be the school district athletic physician, but a sincere and dedicated friend to athletes throughout the Tri-City area."

"Rare is the time that a humanitarian of such stature touches all our lives," one letter commented.

The award was presented during dinner ceremonies at the U. of Illinois Levis Faculty Center in Urbana. Dr. H. Bates Noble, chairman of the ISMS Sports Medicine Committee, presented the award.

Arrest two on theft charges

Called to the 2300 block of West 24th Street during the weekend, officers were advised that the occupants of a vehicle just pulling away from the curb without lights may have been stealing gasoline from a parked truck nearby.

Police followed the car, halting it near Illinois Avenue after allegedly seeing something thrown from the vehicle. Later, a brass gasoline cap was recovered.

A strong odor of gasoline emanated from Jeffrey W. Thrasher, 20, of 2641 Route 3, one of the car's occupants, police alleged.

Thrasher and his companion, Dehron J. Kuhn, 18, of 2311 Logan Ave., were returned to the original scene, where a neighbor described seeing a car drive around the area and stop in the street near a garbage truck owned by George Burke, 2315 W. 24th St. The men in the auto then stood between the truck and their car, police were advised.

The gas cap allegedly was identified as coming from the truck and Thrasher and Kuhn were charged with theft. Both men later were released on notices to appear in court.

Venice Park race, water slide project on ballot

Venice Park District voters will be asked April 12 to select two park commissioners and decide the fate of a proposed $200,000 bond issue needed to construct a water amusement area in Lee Park, Venice.

Park commissioners voted last January to include the special proposition that would enable the district to take out general obligation bonds for construction of a water slide, adult bumper car boat area, concession stand and restrooms.

The Rev. John Henry Williams, board president, is supporting the project, which he views as a "once in a lifetime opportunity" for both the district and the community. According to the president, the project will bring jobs to Venice and be the only major summer recreation in the city.

Also backing the bond issue is incumbent Board Member Earl W. Hogan, who faces opponent Thomas Scaturro for a six-year term board opening. Calvin Ratliff has no opposition for the four-year unexpired term remaining of former commissioner John Gardner.

Hogan, 36, of 221 Kerr St., Venice, was appointed to the Venice Park Board in June after Gardner's resignation. He served on the Venice Community Unit District 3 Board of Education for three years.

He was an employee of the Venice Street Department for 12 years and is now a maintenance worker for American Car and Foundry, St. Louis. He has been a resident of the area 33 years and graduated from St. Mark's School and Venice High School. He is a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church, St. Louis.

Hogan holds the title of co-chairman for the People's Organization to Benefit the Children of Venice and is chairman of the South Venice Neighborhood Organization. In the past, he has worked with the Tri-City Area United Way and the Salvation Army.

"I was appointed in June to serve as commissioner of the Venice Park Board and I am going to do that job by providing more recreation, money and other things the park needs," Hogan stated.

Scaturro, 55, of 808 Third St., Venice, is Venice's superintendent of streets. He has been a member of the Venice Fire Department for 28 years and is past president of the Venice Firemen's Association. He is a member of the Illinois Firemen's Association Board.

The candidate is a lifelong resident of the area and a graduate of St. Mark's School and Venice High School. He attended Rankin Technical Center, St. Louis, for two years. He is a member of St. Mark's Catholic Church, Venice.

"My main concern is for our taxpayers and senior citizens," Scaturro said. "I wish to help the park board maintain their current status without increasing taxes. I am against spending tax money on the water slide."

Scaturro wants to work to improve what already exists within the district. He cites his Venice street superintendent position as a future asset for the district.

Scaturro and his wife, Mary Donna, are the parents of nine children.

Ratliff, 31, of 507 Mercedia St., Venice, is the only candidate for the four-year opening on the park board of commissioners. He served as acting park commissioner from 1977 to 1978. He holds a bachelor's degree in recreational administration from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE). He is a lifelong resident and graduate of Dunbar School and Madison Senior High School.

He is a member of Phi Beta Sigma, an international fraternity, and the SIUE Alumni Association. Ratliff is as a self-employed real estate manager. He previously was employed as a program supervisor for the Tri-City Area YMCA, supervisor for the SIUE Summer Youth Program and activity supervisor for an area-wide YMCA youth program.

Ratliff views the Venice recreational program as a "stepping stone toward realizing new capabilities" for participants, and he thinks a successful program can develop self-confidence and a feeling of personal worth.

"It is essential that cooperative planning be established among the city, schools and other municipal groups to meet the needs of all citizens in the community," Ratliff stated.

SHOOT PELLETS

A vandal shot seven holes in a plate glass window at the Dick Kiser Insurance Agency, 1087 Johnson Road. It was reported at 5:10 p.m. Monday. Damage also was noted to glass in a door.

Wolf against withholding of interest

State Rep. Sam Wolf of Granite City this week announced his support of a resolution supporting Congressional repeal of the new federal interest withholding law.

The law requires that 10 percent of interest and dividends be withheld by savings institutions to insure that the income tax is paid.

"This law unfairly penalizes the majority of law abiding citizens who pay income taxes on interest and dividends. By automatically withholding 10 percent, the federal government now has its hands in people's bank accounts," he said.

Wolf, who serves on the Public Employees Pension Laws Commission as well as being chairman of the Pension Committee in the Illinois House, said the law is particularly damaging to senior citizens and retired or disabled persons who are living off their savings.

"This law also discourages saving and investment at a time when our national policy is to encourage and stimulate both programs," Wolf said.

The current law would also eliminate taxpayers' chance to earn additional income through compound interest when the interest is withheld initially.

"It is clear," Wolf said, "that this is simply an example of government punishing everyone when a few are at fault. It is an untimely and burdensome law not only for the individuals that it affects but also to the savings institutions that will be responsible for withholding the funds."

"If banks and other savings institutions are burdened with additional administrative duties in servicing customer accounts, then they will probably pay less interest to their depositors. I urge repeal."

King faces Mangiaracino in Venice 2nd Ward

GEORGE MANGIARACINO

George J. Mangiaracino, 75, of 1310 Oriole St., Venice, is seeking re-election as alderman of the Second Ward of Venice. Mangiaracino has held that office for 28 years.

He was born in Convent, La., and moved to the Venice area at the age of 2. He has been a maintenance man for the Illinois Highway Department and a divisional supervisor for International Shoe Co., St. Louis.

Mangiaracino is an eighth grade graduate of St. Mark's School, Venice. He is a member of St. Mark's Catholic Church, the Venice Social Club, the Venice City Organization, the Venice Crippled Children's Association and the Italian-American Club.

He said, "Of my 73 years as a resident of Venice, I live in the Second Ward and know the problems of the city. I am willing to provide good service for the people of Venice, especially the Second Ward. I believe we have a good city and feel the need to strive for the betterment of the community as a whole."

RICHARD KING

Richard A. King, 35, of 526 Washington Ave., Venice, is one of the two candidates for Venice Second Ward Alderman.

King now is a correctional officer for the Madison County Sheriff's Department and, in the past, has been a machinist apprentice at McDonnell-Douglas Corp. and a forklift driver at A. O. Smith Corp.

He is a graduate of Madison High School and has attended the University of Maryland and Southern Community College in East St. Louis. He has studied accounting and political science during his college career.

King and his wife, Patricia, have four children, Richard Jr., Shawnda, Andrea and Ryan. He has lived in Venice all of his life and attends the First Church of God in Venice.

King, who is seeking office for the first time, said the city's aldermen should be aware of the needs of the people. "It is time to change the ageless realm of complacency that exists in this place to move away from ideas that are self-centered and self-serving and move towards ideas that will benefit the city as a whole."

Lewis unopposed in Venice voting

George E. Lewis, 54, of 1126 Market St., Venice, the incumbent Venice Third Ward alderman, is unopposed in his bid for re-election in the April 12 election.

He was first appointed to the Venice City Council to replace the late Louis D. Ratliff on Jan. 8, 1975, and was unopposed when he sought his first full term on April 17, 1979.

Lewis was born in Stanton, Ind., and has resided here 30 years. He is a maintenance man at Lee White Homes in Venice and formerly worked as a toll collector on McKinley Bridge and as a freight handler for the Norfolk & Western Railroad.

He attended grade school in Stanton, Ind., and high school in Mason, Tenn. Lewis is a member of the Friendship Baptist Church in Venice and is a member of the church's board of trustees.

He also holds the office of secretary in Jericho Masonic Lodge 12 and is a member of the Tyree Consistory 64 in East St. Louis and of Aahmes Temple 132.

$2 million lotto offer

Two million dollars is the minimum grand prize which a single winner will collect if he or she matches the six winning numbers this Saturday in the Illinois State Lottery lotto game.

This would be the largest prize ever awarded on a U-Illinois lottery game. If two players match the six winning numbers, they will each win at least $1 million.

Because there was no grand prize winner last Saturday, $207,388 will be rolled over into the week's grand prize pool.

One player did match five of the six winning numbers and the alternate number, and won the alternate grand prize of $51,842.

A total of 103 matched five of the six winning numbers and each received second prize of $1,027. Third prizes of $38 went to each of 4,159 players who matched four out of the six winning numbers.

Total lotto sales last week were $1,058,000. Lottery Supt. Michael J. Jones suggested that players buy their lotto tickets early in the week to avoid lines that have been developing at lotto agents on Fridays and Saturdays.

Jones pointed out that the lotto can guarantee a minimum grand prize of $2 million to a single winner, or $1 million each to two winners, because the lotto buys annuities with money in the grand prize pool, permitting winners to collect large sums payable over several years.

He added that if more than two players win the grand prize, they will share the actual grand prize pool. If each of their individual prizes is $100,000 or more, the lotto will buy an annuity for them with that money and they will actually collect more than $100,000.

SUSPENDED LIMITS ON MILK SALES

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has suspended for March through August certain provisions of the Southern Illinois federal milk marketing order.

Edward T. Coughlin, dairy official with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service in Washington, D.C., said the action suspends the limits on the amount of milk that may be diverted to non-pool plants.

Coughlin said the suspension was requested by Mid-America Dairymen, Inc., which represents dairy farmers supplying the market. He said that without the suspension, uneconomic shipments of milk would be required under current market conditions to continue to pool the milk of dairy farmers historically associated with the market.

No views opposing the suspension were received by AMS during recently ended public comment period, Coughlin said.

The suspension was published in the March 17 Federal Register. Copies also are available from Donald R. Nicholson, market administrator, Post Office Box 1485, Maryland Heights, Mo., 63040, telephone 1-314-567-4730; or Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

National Steel will form new corporate parent unit

National Steel Corp. announced Monday that its board of directors approved a reorganization plan designed to revise the legal structure of the corporation to reflect the management reorganization which was adopted in the latter part of 1982.

The plan is subject to approval of the corporation's stockholders at the annual meeting.

During 1982, National Steel revised its management structure and created six business groups, steel, aluminum, fabricated products, distribution and financial services.

A seventh business group, diversified products, was established earlier this month. The purpose of this reorganization was to better enable each business group, headed by its own president, to improve its responsiveness and increase its ability to compete within these business sectors.

It also recognized the changing nature of the corporation into a diversified operating company.

The restructuring plan approved Monday will revise the legal structure of the corporation to reflect these management changes. This will entail the formation of a new corporation, National Inc., which will own stock of a number of operating subsidiaries, including National Steel Corp.

The corporation's steel operations will continue to do business as National Steel Corp.

Details of the plan will be included in materials sent to stockholders prior to the annual meeting of stockholders May 4 at 10 a.m. in the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh.

SEND YOUTH TO DETENTION HOME
Called to Ralph & Charlie's Steak House, 1431 Fourth St., Madison, last week, officers found an employee "restraining a youth who had been caught attempting to take a case of bourbon, valued at $80, from a storage area."

Two other employees allegedly saw the youth break into the storage room, located near the kitchen. Officers learned the would-be thief was 12 years old.

At police headquarters, the youth became ill and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where it was determined he was intoxicated. Later, he was transferred to the Madison County Detention Home in Edwardsville.

Two headlines were transposed

Two headlines on police reports appearing in the Monday, March 21, issue of the Press-Record were inadvertently switched.

An article with the headline, "Brakes fail, car skids," should have carried the headline "Injured man charged DUI."

The DUI (driving while intoxicated) article involved an accident on Missouri Avenue at West 24th Street at 9:05 p.m. Monday, when W. Smith, 30, of Granite City, was found by police with blood on his face and clothing. He allegedly had been driving a van north in the 2300 block of Missouri Avenue and struck the rear of a parked automobile.

Smith was charged with DUI and failing to render aid. He is being held at the St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 8:30 p.m. Sunday after being taken there for treatment. He later returned, the Press-Record has learned.

In the other report, Michael C. Graf, 20, of 1636 Clark Ave., was injured at 2:58 p.m. Saturday when he was struck by an automobile on the Clark Service Station lot, 3081 Washington Ave.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and then transferred to Firm Desloge Hospital in St. Louis where he is recuperating with a broken left leg and is listed in satisfactory condition.

Graf was standing at the side of his Jeep, filling it with gasoline when an automobile operated by Lowell H. Kyle, 27, of 1425 Madison Ave., drove onto the lot and the driver was unable to stop the car before hitting Graf, who was pinned between the auto and the Jeep.

Kyle said he had just purchased the auto and the brakes failed to hold. Police inspected the vehicle and reported the brake pedal pushed straight to the floor and that very little brake fluid was evident.

Kyle was charged with driving with defective brakes and driving while his license is suspended.

There was no DUI charge against Graf. The Press-Record regrets the transposition of headlines.

Venice studies ambulance issue

By VALERIE EVENED

of the Press-Record

Concerns over which ambulance service can best serve the residents of Venice were discussed by aldermen at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

Some dissatisfaction was expressed about ambulance service and Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. asked if the chief of the Madison Ambulance Service could be invited to a meeting to explain the Madison ambulance program.

His request was reiterated by Second Ward Alderman George Mangiaracino, who reported hearing some complaints about the current service provided by Campbell.

Third Ward Alderman George Lewis suggested if the Madison officials came to the city, the council should hear them, "maybe a better arrangement could be worked out." He also added that a statement attributed to an official that Venice was to be excluded from the service was untrue, according to what he had learned.

At a recent meeting, it was reported that Madison fire and ambulance service was being offered to all unincorporated areas of Venice Township, starting March 1.

Some discussion focused on Campbell Ambulance Service being located in Ponton Beach and the time consumed in traveling that distance to someone suffering a heart attack and need immediate attention.

Mayor Echols commented that Campbell had agreed that it calls from Venice were excessive the firm would station an ambulance in the community, "but not for four calls a week," he added.

Agreeing that the proposed Madison service rates are comparable to Campbell's, the mayor said, "My qualms are about what would be the public aid reimbursement rate, should a patient be unable to pay the bill."

In the bill list at Tuesday's meeting was the first payment to Campbell's since the service was inaugurated, Alderman Fleig noted.

"The city is not financially prepared to pay bills indefinitely," the mayor stated.

He mentioned one Venice resident, who has been taken 18 times to a St. Louis hospital. "His income is $140 a month and it costs $160 a call to St. Louis," he said.

He also suggested the aldermen attend a public hearing on the Venice Township general budget and Federal Revenue Sharing, scheduled at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 29, at the township office, 1502 Fifth St., Madison.

Mayor Echols advised council members to take part in the hearing after questions were raised about the township's authority to allow the money from revenue sharing funds for the purchase of a second ambulance for the city of Madison.

Caliber of future GC instruction is challenged

The spokesman for Granite City Local 745 of the American Federation of Teachers at a public hearing on 102 faculty dismissals was Bernard "Ben" Schutzenhofer, one of the 102.

A resource teacher at Grigsby Junior High School, he is first vice president of the local and also editor of its publication, Local Logic.

Addressing the Board of Education Tuesday night, he questioned the future quality of instruction if class size is increased markedly.

Presenting the Federation's response to the 1983-84 staff reductions ordered by the School Board, he estimated the teaching staff cutback at 25 to 30 percent and predicted it "will signal the end of the high-quality educational system the community and parents of Granite City have come to expect."

"Cuts this deep cannot take place without having a devastating impact on the ability of teachers to serve students in their classrooms," he said.

"Class sizes presently 22 to 25 students per class," Schutzenhofer said, "Estimates for next year place this at about 35 students per class. An increase of this size will make it very difficult for teachers to deal with the individual needs of students," he asserted.

Schutzenhofer said Board President Donald Stucke voted against the cutbacks in a 5-2 tally Feb. 1.

He quoted Stucke as saying, "The overall impact of this plan would be too great for the district to overcome," and commented that he agreed with this sentiment.

Schutzenhofer said, "Cuts in staff of the magnitude contemplated by the board will destroy the quality of the educational program."

"Crowded classes and the adoption of a much less effective method of ability grouping will result in a lack of interest for students to obtain the skills they will need later to compete for jobs."

He next quoted School Treasurer Dewey Melton as introducing "two small tax increases" at the Dec. 21 board meeting, each falling for lack of a second to the majority.

Schutzenhofer told the board Tuesday night, "Mr. Melton was correct when he argued, 'The things we (the board) are planning to do are not educationally sound.'"

The teacher asserted, "Either increase would have, in a small way, improved the district's financial picture and lessened the magnitude of the cuts."

"Even more relevant to the school board's position, approval of either item would have been a positive action by the board to improve its financial position without resorting exclusively to dismantling the quality educational system which has taken years to nurture and develop."

"The Federation agrees with Supt. B. J. Davis' comments at the Dec. 18 board meeting that 'the district is not greatly overstuffed, it is underfinanced... Because of underfinancing, steps necessary to reduce costs will be detrimental to the purpose of why schools exist—to educate the youth of our society to the best of our abilities.'"

Schutzenhofer said Local 745 is asking school officials to "take an action which would express compassion and regard for the teachers whom they are dismissing by guaranteeing to them recall rights before the current one-year limit."

"These people have served this district for many years, and they have contributed to the improvement of the system and the community."

"In a district whose faculty will soon have an average age of over 50, an accelerating rate of retirements can be expected."

The openings occur and are filled over the next few years, these qualified individuals who are still available to work and who are most senior in years of service should be given preference."

"We ask you to give consideration to these points," the service is closer.

"But would we get any guarantee on the price, or would it be like Granite City and start out at $90 a call and go up to $140?"

Alderman Valentine suggested, "For the sake of the area, we should meet with Madison. We can throw words around all we want, but we can't get service for the citizens of Venice unless we negotiate with Madison."

He mentioned a recent case in which an ambulance was unavailable and response time to an accident was more than 20 minutes and stated, "We must look to the future and the state statutes read that we have that responsibility to our citizens."

Under the present rate schedule with Campbell, the City of Venice is charged only $49 per ambulance call for local basic service, equal to the public aid reimbursement rate, should a patient be unable to pay the bill.

In the bill list at Tuesday's meeting was the first payment to Campbell's since the service was inaugurated, Alderman Fleig noted.

"The city is not financially prepared to pay bills indefinitely," the mayor stated.

He mentioned one Venice resident, who has been taken 18 times to a St. Louis hospital. "His income is $140 a month and it costs $160 a call to St. Louis," he said.

Pontoon seeks public input on licensing amusement devises

By PAT HAY LUTZ

for the Press-Record

Residents of Pontoon Beach are being urged to attend a meeting in which the specifics of an ordinance concerning the licensing of amusement devices will be discussed. Mayor Pat Bennett told village officials that the meeting, to be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 2 at the village hall, will allow residents and proprietors to provide input in determining the details of the ordinance.

A conflict over licensing fees and definitions prompted the establishment of a committee to investigate preferences of proprietors of amusement devices. According to the ordinance outlined in the first draft of the ordinance, operators were designated as "any person, club, or organization which operates, leases or distributes four or more amusement devices" and proprietors were "street, beach, park, or organization which controls no more than three amusement devices."

Controversy also has developed over the fees which were assigned to the operators-proprietors. The ordinance calls for a non-refundable fee of $600 per year and $50 per machine per year for proprietors.

Mayor Bennett requested positive input from village residents, explaining that the revenue from the devices is essential to the village.

"The village is financially strapped," Bennett stated. "The only other alternative is a tax, which must be passed by referendum. Opponents to the ordinance should seriously consider the economic situation of our residents and our village."

Bennett hopes this public input will enable the ordinance committee and the village council to make a final decision. "We will listen to the arguments and try to work out the best solution for everyone," he said.

Village officials also passed a resolution which allows the firm of Shepard, Morgan & Kaufman to submit a bid to make improvements in the Quiet Valley and Bruene Meadows subdivisions. Contractors are bidding to raise curbing and provide chip and oil paving to Lily Avenue Lake and John Glenn Drive. Bids are being accepted in the Village

Marshall School, John A. "Jack" Mulach of Maryville School and Gary L. Pfreundler of Park School.

Assistant principals reclassified as teachers for 1983-84 were Allen R. Kennerly of South High and David D. Painter of North High.

Some of the school system's coordinators also may be returned to teaching duties. Coordinator assignments are considered extracurricular in nature and are limited to one year in length, unless reappointed.

Action on the 1983-84 list of extracurricular designations is expected later this spring, Supt. Davis said after the meeting.

Retirements effective June 3 were approved by the board after being requested by Fred E. Noth, Logan School principal, and Mrs. Anita J. Etkimoff, Johnson School resource teacher.

Resigning June 3 will be Gary Presley, a psychologist on the staff of Special Education Region One.

The board chose seven 1983-84 counselors from a 1982-83 list of 12.

Of the five not continuing as counselors, those on the dismissal list will be able to apply for teaching assignments.

All teaching posts open for the coming year will be posted for faculty members' consideration April 4-8, Terry M. Salem, personnel administrator, said.

Continuing as junior high school counselors next year will be Carol J. Hornback at Coolidge and Jon M. Mullen at Grigsby.

Of the 18 schools in use by District Nine this year, only 12 will be operated in 1983-84. The five closing positions slated for the combined Granite City High School will be filled by Sonya J. Aderson, Roy D. McConkey, Sandra A. Kopsky and John F. "Jack" Haug, all of South High, and Albert W. Rowden of North.

In addition to Schutzenhofer, those addressing the board during the evening included Lee Thomas, who urged assistance in repairing their neighborhood.

The grant funds, if received, will be used to repair the streets and solve the drainage problem, Sparks added.

Following a special meeting designed to inform the residents of the possibility of receiving the funds, a number of people volunteered to campaign door-to-door to personally talk to the residents and get their approval to fill out the financial statement.

According to Sparks, there are 130 residents in the Brooks Addition and the forms should be completed and returned to his office by April 1.

If the money cannot be secured for that particular location, an alternative project would be in the Tank Town area where the streets need repairing, Sparks announced.

"Since the money is available, if we can prove our township needs assistance I feel we must make every effort to supply the necessary information so we can receive the funding, and we do have areas that need to be repaired, Sparks said.

Disappointment was stressed by that Mrs. Merna M. Musterman be retrained as a gifted education program coordinator.

The resolution adopted on administrative salary reductions cited economic reasons as the basis for 10 percent 1983-84 pay cuts for the following administrators, directors and supervisors:

Bobby J. Davis, superintendent; Frank L. Kraus, assistant superintendent; Warren D. Collins, instructional services administrator; Terry M. Salem, personnel administrator.

Norman S. Owca, director of finance; Thomas G. Noth, computer services administrator; Thomas C. Holloway, vocational-career education and industrial arts director.

James L. Dumont, South principal who is to become a district-wide administrator; Gilbert V. Walmesley, North principal who will be principal of the combined high school.

Kenneth E. Spalick, Fred P. "Pat" Schuman and Victor C. Buehler, who will be assistant principals at the combined high school; elementary principals Alfred J. Wilson, William R. Brinkhoff, Edward Gonwa, Donald E. Kopp, James J. Jeffries, Theodore L. Yonson, Agnes P. Frynkko, Arthur E. Menendez and Harry A. Briggs Jr.

Junior high principals Charles R. Weiss, Michael Sikora; Nancy D. Marti, Coolidge assistant principal; Joseph S. Fedora, athletics and physical education director; Steven M. Balen, special education region director; William Stuart Mills, supervisor of special education.

Harold E. Hillmer, employee relations and training director; Ronald Landman, director of buildings and grounds; Monte L. Kessler, computer program director.

Michael A. Kanak, director of food services; Boyd D. McCommis, custodial supervisor; Marcella V. Pilecher, supervisor of accounting services; and R. Karen Szedlar, coordinator of insurance services.

Not on the list for pay cuts are two administrators who are retiring in June 1983: Vasil Etkimoff, pupil personnel services administrator, and Mrs. Ruth D. Lahr, Chapter 1 (formerly federal Title I) director. Their duties have not yet been assigned for the coming year.

All of the decisions by the board were unanimous.

In discussing the teacher dismissals, Supt. Davis said they stem from both economic reasons and a continuing decline in enrollment. In February, the number of students decreased from 9,500 to 9,509, including 36 fewer at GCIS South.

The superintendent voiced deep regret over the dismissals, adding, "It is the largest number in the history of this district to be dismissed at any one time."

"The reality of having no known viable alternative, in view of our economic plight, does not diminish the anguish."

"With these names go dedicated and talented persons who are being temporarily denied the opportunity to fulfill professional dreams."

My personal philosophy of optimism allows me to say "temporarily," as I believe the quality of the individuals will allow them somehow to surmount this shattering experience.

"How many times I have had a young, dynamic teacher tell me, 'I know I can make more money in another field, but all I've really wanted to do is teach.'"

"To deny these teachers this opportunity will also deny scores of students the opportunity to enrich their lives through association with these dedicated individuals."

"I implore everyone interested in quality education to seek and support measures that will reverse the present economic conditions that have brought us to this night."

"Unless concerned citizens help us seek the necessary financial resources, I am afraid this scene will be repeated in future years. The need for action is now. Our students deserve no less."

Sparks when he read a letter noting that Senate Bill 294, which was sponsored by Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), would not be heard on Wednesday in the legislative session, as was previously announced.

The bill, which would end annexations of township properties by co-extensive city-townships, such as Granite City, will be referred to a subcommittee for study, which to the township means it probably will be buried and another such bill will have to be drafted and presented again in an effort to get legislation passed to stop such annexations, Sparks explained.

Problems associated with the co-extensive township law, under which the township's boundaries changes along with the Granite City municipal boundaries, began to seriously affect the township in December, 1978, when Illinois Power Co. and Illinois Terminal Railroad Co. requested a part of their property be annexed into the city of Granite City and, automatically, into Granite City Township.

Each time a particular section of property is annexed, the township loses another prime industrial portion, as well as property tax revenue and revenue sharing and other federal grant funds, which are controlled by the population.

In other business, it was noted that interest payments in the amount of $982 and $61 for the Town Fund and an additional $491 for the General Assistance Fund were received.

A request from the Hartford Public Library to share in the Revenue Sharing Funds for the benefit of the library was read and will be given consideration prior to the next budget preparation. Since the library is in Chouteau Township, the trustees commented that the distance to Hartford is just as short as to travel to Granite City, where Chouteau Township residents must pay a $10 fee to use the library facility.

A public hearing on the Road and Bridge budgets will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 29, at the Chouteau Township Hall, it was announced.

Other meetings scheduled include regular meetings on April 4 and April 18, at 7 p.m., the annual audit meeting set for 6:30 p.m. April 6 and the annual town meeting on April 12, at 7 p.m.

60% tuition hike is opposed by governor

Governor James R. Thompson said Monday that drastic reductions contained in a staff report for Illinois' higher education budget are unacceptable and can be avoided through his four-year financial plan.

"The reductions recommended by the staff of the Board of Higher Education are not acceptable to me," the governor said.

"We need a strong university and college system to meet the needs of the future. We can avoid these proposed cuts by adopting the fiscal plan that I have laid out."

Staff recommendations would increase tuition by about 60 percent for undergraduates.

They also would reduce faculty and staff by another four percent at public universities, reduce funds recommended for student aid, and eliminate salary increases.

And the cuts would decrease the average grant per student credit hour for community colleges by more than 25 percent while ending funds for improvements in several programs.

"The Board of Higher Education has come out in favor of tax increases to provide additional support for higher education."

"The tax increase plan I have proposed would restore the cuts that have been made, plus give higher education additional funding."

"We cannot afford to allow the budget to go into effect without additional resources from tax increases. To do so would be to ignore our future," Thompson concluded.

Job training, information and food discussed

A monthly meeting of the Willing Workers was held at the Granite City Jaycee Hall. President Steve Ortiz introduced the guest speaker, Nancy McIlvoy of the state Adult Education-CETA Linkage program.

She spoke about the new Job Training Partnership Act Title III program which trains laid-off workers. She obtained information from the workers on what types of services they feel are needed so that funds can be utilized properly.

She and Ray LaGarce of Southern Illinois University are considering developing a program that would provide information to laid-off persons.

George Cook, AFL-CIO community relations representative, talked to the group about Project Help, a new program to assist displaced workers with supplemental food.

Marjorie Baler from Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County, Granite City, explained the support group for unemployed that she conducts every Thursday.

Other business included a proposal to obtain tax-exempt status for the organization. Members agreed to use some of the donated funds to pay the $50 charter fee.

Discussion was held on the group becoming more involved in civic projects such as fairs and parades, so that members and the organization could earn money and become more visible in the community.

After the meeting, members stayed to talk with the speakers. The next meeting will be March 26 at 10 a.m. at the Jaycee Hall, 1855 Poplar St. The guest speaker will be Chris Olsen of Illinois Power Co. All laid-off workers, men and women, are being invited to attend the meetings, according to Brenda Derby, 876-2383.

ACT workshop set at SIUC

An intensive workshop for students planning to take the ACT test for college admission is planned for April 9 at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The workshop is designed to help students do their best on the ACT and get the highest score they are capable of achieving.

The workshop will provide information on purpose, format and scoring of the ACT, general test-taking strategies, reducing test anxiety, techniques for taking standardized admissions tests and how they differ from classroom tests, step-by-step procedures for handling each type of question in all four sections of the ACT and how to review for the test.

Take-home materials also will be provided.

The registration deadline is April 1 with a $15 registration fee that includes the instruction, an outline, study materials, a copy of a previously-used ACT exam and refreshments.

Applications are available in the office of Sonya Adkinson, a guidance counselor at Granite City High School South.

MANY ARE OMITTING MARITAL DEDUCTION

Married couples who both may deduct up to $1,500 from gross income on their 1982 tax returns, reducing the "marriage tax penalty." The Internal Revenue Service says this deduction is being overlooked by many who have filed their returns.

Working couples may deduct five percent of the lower paid spouse's earnings, up to a maximum deduction of $1,500. In 1983, the deduction will rise to 10 percent with a ceiling of $3,000. To claim the exclusion, the couple must file a joint return. Complete instructions are in the 1982 Form 1040 and Form 1040A tax package.

Burglars climbed on the roof from an alley, broke a window and entered the Deluxe Janitorial Service, 1837 Delmar Ave., where a remodeling project is underway, it was reported last week. Several sections of paneling were torn from the walls, but apparently nothing of value was taken, Bill Voss said.

Lions to charter club in Venice, March 28

A Lions Club Community Night will be Monday, March 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Venice Recreation Center. The purpose of the meeting will be to charter a new Lions Club in the community.

The community night is the result of a positive meeting Feb. 26, between officers of Illinois Lions District 1-G and a group of Venice residents, a Lions club spokesman said.

Venice residents who met with Lions officials and agreed to become charter members of the new club were the Rev. John Henry Williams, Calvin Ratliff, Green Jacks, James Harrell, Earl Hogan, Victor Valentine Sr., Barne Hogan and Clifford Mathis.

"The purpose of the community night is to give all men of the Venice community and the surrounding area an open invitation to attend and become charter members of the new club. Lionism is open to men of legal majority age with good moral character and a good reputation in the community," Ralph Johnson said. Johnson is the Lion District 1-G club extension chairman.

He said that it takes 20 men to sign for charter membership before a club can be established. "We hope to have more than the needed 20 when we finish our presentation on March 28," he added.

The program will include a history of the Lions International, presented by Johnson. He will utilize a 20-minute movie called "Lionism: Reaching Out to Others," during the presentation.

District Lieutenant Governor

nor Coy Anderson of Palmyra, Ill., will discuss Lionism in the state, district and zone levels. District Membership chairman Martin Himechick, Camp Point, will present information about membership and attendance awards. Former District 1-G Governor Walter Potts, also of Camp Point, will point out the work of the Lions of Illinois Foundation, the charitable body of the Lions of Illinois, Inc.

District Governor Don Patrick of Pontoon Beach, also will give his remarks about the group.

The floor will be opened to members of the club within the zone, including Granite City, Pontoon Beach, Madison, Edwardsville, Highland and Marine. Questions and comments will be taken from the audience.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

LEGAL SERVICES FOR 60 AND OLDER NEEDED

Senior citizens (60 and older) in need of legal services may contact their area agency on aging for assistance. The agency will refer them to a legal assistance corporation office or to private attorneys who have volunteered to provide their services at no cost to older persons in financial need.

Advice can be sought on problems relating to government benefits, health insurance, real estate, landlord-tenant, age discrimination, guardianship rights and consumer fraud and exploitation. The state agency's toll-free number is 1-800-255-8966.

ARREST FOUR IN COUGAR ESCAPE CASE

Four East Alton youths have pleaded guilty to criminal damage to property in connection with cutting holes in two fences at the Cougar Den on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Fined $50 each and ordered to pay $50 restitution and $29 court costs were Steve M. Watts, 18, George W. Hamilton, 19, Kevin F. Campbell, 19 and Mike C. Todd, 18.

University Police at SIUE said the youths confessed to cutting the fences on the night of March 5 as a "prank." Holes were cut large enough for Kynia, the new Cougar mascot at the university, to escape, and she was observed about 400 feet south of the Cougar Den later that night. Mark Ehrhardt, a student and director of the Cougar Guard, was able to entice the cougar back into custody.

University Police credited the Cougar Guard with providing information which led to the arrests of the youths.

CREDIT CARD USE LEADS TO ARREST

Steven D. Bristow, 33, of Collinsville, was arrested last week at the Collinsville Police Department on two Granite City warrants alleging unlawful receipt of a credit card and theft of labor or services.

The charges stemmed from a January incident when an alleged stolen credit card was used to pay a bill at Charlie's Restaurant.

Bristow appeared in court here and pleaded innocent. He was released on a $10,000 recognizance bond.

FIRST CARD SALE. Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk was the first person to purchase Marigold Seed Greeting Cards made by the special education class at Madison High School. Dewayne Wright, a sophomore, collects Sasyk's money after delivering his sales pitch to the mayor. The cards contain a packet of Marigold seeds and the cover design of a Marigold was drawn by a member of the class. The seeds were cleaned, sorted and inserted into heat-sealed packages by the students as part of a Career Skills class project that created a real-life working situation as the students developed their company. Ida Lacy, special education teacher, said she feels it is important for the students to develop skills through realistic work situations in the classroom. The project was decided on following the classes' participation in the Very Special Arts Festival at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Cards are available through various community institutions, organizations, businesses and the school. The cost is 50 cents per card or $2 for five. (Press-Record Photo by Nancy Well)

Legislators pledge support for increased school funds

More than 500 delegates and alternates attending the 45th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Teachers in Chicago heard leaders of the Illinois legislature pledge passage of a collective bargaining bill in the current session. The meeting ended this week.

House Speaker Michael Madigan praised the delegates for their active participation in legislation action programs. He said that although he had traditionally been against any increase in state taxes, they could count on him to "do the right thing" where the welfare of teachers and public education is concerned.

Senate Leader Philip Rock expressed gratitude to the IFT for contributions to the Democratic leadership of Illinois.

He said the outlook for funding for public education in the 1980s is "quite bleak," but pledged unqualified support for legislation to increase the state's revenue.

State Comptroller Roland

Burris thanked the delegates for helping him to be elected by one of the largest pluralities of any Illinois public official.

He printed a gloomy picture of the state's financial condition, stating, "The people were given one of the world's best snow jobs by the governor's picture of the state's financial condition prior to the November election."

In his annual "state of the union" address, IFT President Robert Healey listed the state's financial problems and outlined the IFT's course of action to meet the problems.

He stressed "the urgent need" for an increase in the Illinois state income tax and other means to increase school revenue.

Healey said, "Between now and June, we must mobilize our total membership in support of the tax package. We must lobby in Springfield as well as in every district in the state."

He urged delegates as give active leadership to the "struggle to save Illinois schools."

He added, "In the words of the poet, if there is an uncertain trumpet, who will gird for battle?"

He voiced pleasure in announcing that the IFT is now the state's largest teacher union. He said, "The major reason for IFT's phenomenal growth is simply that we have provided Illinois teachers with a viable, effective organization where the rank and file members and their local leaders run the organization."

"Our staff and local leaders have negotiated, by and large, the best contracts in this state with a minimum of confrontation."

"We have time and time again protected teachers' rights. We offer leadership to our vast membership. However, we take direction from the members, too."

Delegates gave Healey a vote of confidence by electing him to an unprecedented seventh term.

First elected to the IFT presidency in 1971, he led the organization through a decade of growth.

On learning of his reelection, Healey thanked the delegates and pledged to continue his efforts to "keep IFT in the vanguard of the fight to protect public education."

Margaret Blackshere, formerly of Madison, currently serving as IFT's political action head, was overwhelmingly endorsed by the teacher union delegates in her bid to become secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

If successful, she will become the first woman ever elected to the state AFL-CIO post.

Other actions, the delegates approved a "modest dues increase" to be phased in over two years.

They selected on resolutions covering a wide variety of issues.

LEARNING OUTDOORS. Warm weather brought at least one class at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville out doors to study. The class in socialist feminist theory is taught by Margaret A. Simons, associate professor of philosophical studies at SIUE.

Easter parade of animals, special events scheduled

Dressed in their natural finery, animals from the Children's Zoo will parade through the St. Louis Zoo grounds on Easter Sunday, April 3, at 1:30 p.m.

A baby llama, burro, baby goat, trained birds, chimps, plus surprise participants to be announced will be among the Zoo's residents that will promenade from the Children's Zoo across the Central Plaza, around the South Lake and back to the Children's Zoo.

A highlight of the Easter Sunday festivities will take place from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Children's Zoo. Admission is free to the young and young at heart for the entire day. The indoor and outdoor contact yards will be open, enabling youngsters to touch and interact with animals, including the new baby llama, baby goat, sheep, guinea pigs and rabbits.

Eggs from various species of birds will be on display. Visitors will see a display and Easter-oriented graphic description of one of the world's two egg laying mammals, the echidna.

Seven breeds of rabbits will be stars of the day. Champagne, Rex, Satin, Dutch, Mini Lop, Netherland Dwarf, Himalayan Dwarf and a wild jackrabbit will greet visitors.

In celebration of spring and Easter, a profusion of flowering plants will add to the setting. It is hoped this first-of-a-kind Easter festival will become an annual Zoo presentation, a spokesman said.

Meeting held
The National Association of Manufacturers was organized at a meeting held Jan. 22, 1985, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Regional state office at BAC

Belleville Area College's role in the opening of a regional state economic development office was featured in the most recent issue of "Illinois Economic Progress."

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs opened the office at the college after Thompson said colleges should serve as leaders in the statewide effort to develop the economy.

Regional DCCA director Mark Spizzo has said colleges are a valuable resource because they can gear up quickly to meet the training needs of new and expanding industries.

Arrest four in GC from Quad-City area

A hearing for four residents of Venice and Madison, who were arrested during the weekend in Granite City, was conducted early this week at Granite City police headquarters and all four were transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville later that day.

The four were arrested after a Granite City police sergeant alleged seeing a vehicle being driven across the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at high speed.

The vehicle was halted on Nameoki Road and items of clothing were found in the car. The occupants were unable to say where the clothing was purchased, nor produced any receipts, it was alleged.

Taken into custody were Ayonda D. Manson, 17, who was later found to be Rhonda G. Manson, 18, of 415 Weaver Ave., Venice; Samuel L. Brown, 28, also known as Samuel A. Brown, 23, of 1035 Douglas Ave., Venice; Sheila Crisp, 28, also known as Sheila Coleman, of 125 Weaver Ave., Venice; and Antoine J. Shipp, 18, of 134 Gareche Homes, Madison.

Officers learned two articles of clothing allegedly found in the vehicle had been taken from Fashion Gal, 4 Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, where a clerk reported several people came into the shop and separated. One woman took five garments into a dressing room and then left the shop without purchasing anything.

A pair of shoes found in the car allegedly was taken from Shoe Fair at 9 Crossroads Plaza.

All four people were charged with two (state) counts of retail theft.

At police headquarters, an officer accidentally overheard Miss Manson call "Rhonda" and a check with the Venice Police Department disclosed her name as Rhonda G. Manson, against whom that department had two outstanding warrants.

A Venice officer identified the woman and warrants were served for failure to appear in court on resisting a peace officer and disorderly conduct charges.

It was also learned that St. Clair County held a warrant for a Samuel A. Brown, who had listed an East St. Louis address, and was determined to be Samuel L. Brown.

The warrant alleged Brown was driving while his driver's license was suspended and the charge carried an $800 bond.

An investigation also was made into the current status of Shipp, who recently had been released on recognizance in connection with a Madison case. Shipp was charged with driving too fast for conditions in the Granite City case, in addition to two retail theft counts. It was learned that Miss Crisp also is known as Sheila Coleman.

In the court appearance, Miss Coleman (Crisp) pleaded guilty to theft (at Fashion Gal) and was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail. She pleaded innocent to the second theft (at Shoe Fair) charge and bond was set at $500.

Antoine Shipp pleaded guilty to the traffic charge and was fined $84 and entered an innocent plea to theft. Bond was set at $40,000 on the latter charge.

Both Miss Manson and Brown entered innocent pleas to theft. A bond of $40,000 was set on Brown and $16,000 on Miss Manson.

VICTOR VALENTINE SR

SAMUEL HILTON

Hilton, Valentine in Venice 4th Ward race

In the April 12 election, Venice Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. will face challenger Samuel Hilton in the Venice Fourth Ward race.

Samuel E. Hilton, 32, of 1300 Klein St., Apt. 606, Bissell Apartments, Venice, is seeking public office for the first time.

He is a graduate of Madison Senior High School, and a lifelong resident of the area. He is a member of the Mt. Nebo Missionary Baptist Church, Madison. He is a veteran of the U.S. Army.

Hilton works as a sales clerk for Red Crown Inc. and was previously an inspector for General Motors. Hilton states he is seeking public office to help bring jobs and industry to Venice and "to work tirelessly to enhance the housing stock of our city."

According to the challenger, he plans to work diligently with the mayor and council to upgrade economic conditions.

Hilton also seeks "to try to obtain more for our seniors and youths."

He and his wife, Jennifer, have one daughter, Shelia Jena.

Incumbent Victor A. Valentine Sr., 40, of 99 Mercedia Ave., Apt. 3, is running for his second term as Venice Fourth Ward alderman. He has been a resident of that ward for 38 years.

Valentine is a graduate of Dunbar Elementary School and Madison Senior High School. He attended Colorado Technical College and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He is employed as a finisher at Consolidated Aluminum Corp. Division, where he has worked for 18 years.

He has served as past American Legion Post 799 vice commander and commander, past internal affairs officers for the Bond-Madison counties American Legion and past board member of the YMCA. He served in the U.S. Air Force for five years.

Valentine is a co-founder of the People's Organization to Benefit the Children of Venice.

The incumbent is campaigning on a platform of increased awareness for the problems facing senior citizens and youths. He views the lack of long-term job opportunities as a crucial issue and feels the city should stay alert to any possible hazardous waste problems.

"I have worked hard in the last four years on many issues for our ward," Valentine said. "Such as demolition of old houses, (promoting) 200 new registered voters, speaking out on hazardous waste in our city and other problems."

Valentine is married to JoAnn (Hamm) and they have three sons, Victor II, Anthony and Vincent.

GC MAN ROBBED AT FAIRMOUNT PARK

A Granite City man told Collinsville police that an armed robber took $500, his wallet, watch and trousers at Fairmount Park Racetrack during the weekend.

Henry Kovalik, 68, said he was leaving the track when a young man asked for a ride to his car at the other end of the parking lot. Because it was raining, Kovalik said he agreed.

At the end of the lot, the suspect pulled a gun, asked for the items, including the trousers, and then fled. Kovalik told Collinsville police. The incident which Kovalik said occurred at 11:30 p.m. Saturday, was not reported until 8:57 the next day. The reason, Kovalik told police, was because of the loss of his trousers.

He described the suspect as between 20 and 25, with shoulder-length light hair and wearing blue jeans and a blue jacket.

Women's Division style show in April

Summer fashions following the theme, "On The Boardwalk at Atlantic City" will be presented at a style show on April 24 by the Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, as its only fund raising event of the year.

Mrs. Tina Thomas has been named chairman and Mrs. Jacques DeWitt is to serve as co-chairman of the event to be staged at the Granite City Township Hall at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Thomas attended Madison Schools and is a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison. Bi-State limiting types of IDs for elderly, handicapped April 4

Beginning April 4, only three types of identification will be accepted for elderly-handicapped reduced fares on Bi-State buses, according to Michael H. Setzer, general manager of transit for the Bi-State Development Agency.

Elderly persons 65-years-of-age or older will be required to use their Medicare Cards as identification. Those few elderly who are not eligible for Medicare Cards, but are 65 or older may apply to Bi-State for an orange identification card, which also is valid. The orange cards bear an expiration date of Jan. 1, 1986.

Handicapped persons will be eligible for reduced fares on buses only by showing the tan Bi-State identification card. The tan card also bears an expiration date of Jan. 1, 1986. Handicapped persons who do not already have a tan card are being urged to make application to Bi-State well ahead of the implementation date. A physician's certification of handicap is required.

Setzer said that all three cards have been accepted on the buses since 1980 in an effort to slowly phase in the program. "We announced that Medicaid Cards would be accepted as identification back in 1980, and began issuing the Bi-State tan handicapped card, and orange elderly exception card at that time. All persons new to the program since 1980 already have the appropriate cards," he said.

"Then in January this year, we announced that April 4 would be the cutoff date for all other cards."

"We have made every effort to get the message out to people, and we hope that they will take advantage of the few weeks remaining, if they don't already have the appropriate card," Setzer said. "It is our intention that every eligible person be able to take advantage of the reduced fare, and April 4 is a firm cutoff date for all other cards," he concluded.

Application forms are available by calling Bi-State at 875-4144. Elderly and handicapped persons with proper identification pay a reduced fare of 35-cents on Bi-State local and commuter routes, with no charge for transfers or zones. Regular adult basic fare is 75-cents for local routes, $1 for rapid, express and park-ride routes, with 10-cents for transfers and 10-cents per zone on some Illinois routes.

Unanimous vote by 2 boards to open Granite City college

Granite City Board of Education members and Belleville Area College trustees have passed the way for opening of an expanded Granite City Center in August.

In a unanimous 6-0 vote March 16, the BAC trustees approved a contract to lease Granite City North High from Community Unit School District Nine.

The Granite City board considered the lease Tuesday night and approved it by a vote of 7-0.

BAC has begun preparation for a start-up of college classes at the high school at 4950 Maryville Road coinciding with the start of the fall semester. The school building became available when economic conditions and enrollment patterns prompted the Granite City district to vote to close it at the end of this school year in June. It has 145,000 square feet and is situated on a 66-acre campus.

The lease calls for annual rent of $25,000, the amount the college currently pays for evening use of Granite City South High and daytime use of Washington School facilities.

Classes will be held day and night at the new center. The Granite City school district also will receive 50 cents per credit hour for every hour generated at the center. If 10,000 hours were generated, the school system would receive $5,000.

The Belleville Area College president, Dr. Bruce R. Wissore, is optimistic about the new center.

"BAC is looking forward to the opportunity to serve residents of the northern portion of the college district close to their homes," he said. "It should mean savings on transportation costs for many students and make classes accessible to many who have not attended in the past.

"The reception in Granite City has been overwhelming," Dr. Wissore said. "It was pleasant to read in the Granite City Press-Record that Granite City is gaining a college, not losing a high school."

"I believe the Granite City Center is an excellent opportunity for the college and community to work together."

The center, located near Illinois 203 and Interstate 270, will be convenient for residents of communities throughout the northern portion of the college district, Dr. Wissore said.

Highland, Troy, Venice, Madison and Collinsville students are just some of those that may find the drive to Granite City easier than that to the college's main campus in Belleville, he commented.

"The high school is only 10 years old and well designed for use as a college," Pres. Wissore said.

"Initial plans call for offering data processing and at the center in addition to general interest courses such as mathematics and English that are required for degrees in most fields.

"Program planning will be expanded now that the Granite City board has approved the lease."

Dr. Wissore attended Tuesday night's Granite City Board of Education meeting, along with Avery Schermer, vice-chairman of the BAC board, Curt Eckert of the BAC board, Dr. Frank P. Gornick, who will be provost of the Granite City Center, and Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, president of Lewis and Clark Community College.

BAC President Wissore said he and the provost will consult extensively with Pres. Trimpe in developing plans for the Granite City Center.

Drew Karandjeff of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Committee said the lease of GCHS-North to BAC is "the best and highest use" for the building. Concurring with him were Carl E. Mathias, Leo H. Kozmen and Alan Richardson of the committee, all of whom were present.

Karandjeff added that the lease arrangement is "the best thing for the college and for our community." The four have been serving as an informal liaison panel on local college planning.

Board President Donald Stucke and Board Member David Partney said they feel GCHS will be a major asset for the Granite City area. Introductions and handshakes followed and all of the officials indicated great pleasure at being able to successfully conclude talks that resulted in the lease of North to BAC.

Promotions for four GC policemen

Capt. Robert "Bob" Astorian, chief of detectives for the Granite City Police Department, will be promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel April 1, filling the spot vacated by the retirement of Lt. Col. George Teller.

The promotion and several other promotions related to Astorian's move were approved by the Granite City Council Tuesday night on the recommendation of the city's Board of Fire & Police Commissioners.

Astorian started his career with the police department in May, 1962. He was first assigned to the St. Louis Major Case Squad in March, 1967, and served through 1970. He was reassigned as a member of that squad in 1977.

Astorian was named a detective in 1973 and was promoted to sergeant in 1974 when he returned to the patrol division. He reached the rank of lieutenant in May, 1977, and captain in September, 1977, when he assumed control of the detective division.

Astorian, who holds an associate's degree in law enforcement and a bachelor of arts degree in human sciences, is one of the few local officers who have completed the 11-week Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy. He achieved that honor in June, 1979.

Filling Lengyel's spot as lieutenant will be Sgt. William Harris. Detective Dave Reubhausen will be promoted to the rank of Sgt. April 1.

The vacant patrolman position will be filled by Nedwin Tapp, a former police dispatcher.

A determination whether one of the patrolmen will be named a detective to fill Reubhausen's desk in that division is to be made at a commanders' meeting after April 1.

Harris started his career with the Granite City police May 1, 1964, and served in the patrol division and as a juvenile officer prior to being assigned to the detective division Feb. 25, 1974. He is currently in the patrol division in December, 1978.

Harris holds an associate degree in law enforcement and has attended numerous schools and seminars.

Promoted to Captain is Lt. James Lengyel. Assignment of the three captains to the patrol, detective and service divisions has not yet been completed, the Press-Record was told. Lengyel and Captains Harry Mitchell and Gerald Pinkerton will each head one of those divisions April 1.

Lengyel has been with the department since June 15, 1971, and has risen in rank rapidly, first to sergeant in the patrol division and then to lieutenant Aug. 1, 1980. He is a graduate of Granite City High School and attended the Mississippi State Law Enforcement Academy while employed with the security division of the Terminal Railroad Association. He also has attended six week police training at Belleville and has attended numerous seminars and classes. Reubhausen began his career with the department Sept. 15, 1977, in the patrol division. He was assigned to the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois on May 1, 1978, and returned to the local force Mary 1, 1979, joining the detective division at that time.

ty members with 17 years seniority or less in March, 1981, when the district lost its Title VI funding.

Wilbert Glasper, who assumed the duties as president of the Venice School Board Feb. 12, announced new committee appointments during Monday night's regular meeting.

Named to the personnel committee were George Wade, Gerald Cielo and Glasper; building committee — Kirk Gardner, Percy Guest and Cielo; purchasing and finance — Alvester Salmond, Matthew Meehan and Wade. Committee members are to select their own chairman, Glasper said.

In other business, the board received a letter from Building Services Employees Union Local 98, seeking to open negotiations toward a new working agreement.

A request from Venice Teachers Local 965 was presented to the board at an earlier meeting. Agreements between the district and both unions will expire June 30, 1983.

Superintendent Vickers was authorized to contact architect Henry Gabriel and request an update of a survey made in 1978 to determine what projects remain to be accomplished in the Venice schools in order to comply with the Illinois Life-Safety Code.

The board turned down a request from the Venice Park District to sponsor a summer food program at the school, citing a lack of staff during the summer months.

Last year, the summer meals program was switched from the school to the Venice Recreation Center and apparently proved quite successful, the administrator informed board members.

Permission was granted to hold the annual all-school sports banquet. The event will be scheduled sometime in late April or early May, according to Vickers.

Cancellation of the April 4 meeting of the board was announced. Next month, only one meeting will take place, that being on April 18.

Grand jury to continue Nameoki probe March 31

A Madison County grand jury is expected to continue its probe of Nameoki Township Highway Department expenditures when it meets Thursday, March 31.

According to an official source, eight to 10 witnesses appeared before the grand jury last Thursday.

The Press-Record has learned that all those who testified are employees of the Nameoki Township Highway Department. More subpoenas are possible, it is believed.

Nameoki Township

Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic says he believes the probe may be in allegations that he has misused township gasoline in his private truck and into his use of other township funds.

He told the Press-Record prior to last week's grand jury hearing that neither he nor his records have been subpoenaed.

The commissioner said he allowed the mosquito truck and two other township vehicles to use township gasoline pumps because it is cheaper than purchasing gas

Eleven head coaches dismissed in GC district

By ROGER KRAMER
and BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Eleven Granite City School District teachers who are now varsity head coaches were honorably dismissed by the district Tuesday.

In all, 38 coaches at the high school and junior high levels were dismissed by the district. The district honorably dismissed 193 teachers at Tuesday's school board meeting.

Both Gene Baker, an English teacher, and the Granite City South soccer coach, and Bob Kehoe, a physical education teacher and the Granite City North soccer coach were honorably dismissed from their teaching positions.

Both coaches have been in the district for 10 years.

Other sports left without a returning head coach are track and girls' softball. The dismissals take effect at the end of the present school year.

Harry Lang, a drivers' education teacher, assistant athletic director, and track coach at North, and Dave McClain, a science teacher and track coach at South were both honorably dismissed. Lang has been in the district for 10 years, and McClain has taught in the district for 13 years.

Pat Yates, a physical education teacher and softball coach at South, and Gus Lignou, a vocational education teacher and softball coach at North, were also dismissed. Yates has been in the district for 10 years, and Lignou has been in the district for three years.

Bryan Wilkinson, the athletic director at North and a physical education teacher, and Greg Patton, assistant athletic director at South, an assistant baseball coach and a health teacher, were also dismissed.

Other head coaches who were honorably dismissed by the district include:

Jerry McKeehan, South football coach and a drivers' education teacher for 10 years, Gary Morgan, South girls' basketball coach and vocational education teacher for four years, Bill Ohlendorf, North boys' basketball coach and a physical education teacher for 10 years, John VanBuskirk, North boys' tennis coach and a math teacher for 10 years, and Larry Lipe, North girls' tennis coach and an art teacher at Frasier Junior High for 10 years.

"We are losing a lot of good, young coaches," Joseph Fedora, the district's administrative assistant for athletics, said. "We are going to have difficulties filling some of the positions."

Varsity coaches remaining in the district and their assignments for the 1982-83 school year are:

coach. Bob Stegemeier, North baseball coach; John Modica, South baseball coach; Harry Cook, North girls' basketball coach; Wilma Schulze, South volleyball coach; Paula Wise, North volleyball coach; Russ Chappell, North golf coach; Dwayne Chaney, South golf coach; and Paul Greve, South girls' tennis coach.

Coaches for the new Granite City High School are expected to be assigned in early June, according to Fedora. However, some positions may not be filled later because of possible teacher call-backs.

Coaches are assigned to their sports on a yearly basis. Fedora said the past policy of the district was to hire the best qualified person for the job.

"Seniority has no bearing on the hiring of people in extracurricular activities," Fedora said.

Fedora said it is possible that people from outside the district may be hired to handle some of the coaching positions, but the district's preference is to stay inside the district.

"In some sports, it depends whether some of the teachers are called back. If we don't find a qualified person inside the district, we would look at outside people and see what obligations they are under before we would hire him. We definitely want certified teachers to serve on the coaching staff," Fedora said.

A final policy for the hiring of coaches the district has not been created yet, Fedora said.

Baker, Kehoe dismissals put GCHS soccer in a bind

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

It is extremely difficult to imagine Granite City High School soccer without Gene Baker or Bob Kehoe. Unfortunately, it may be reality next season.

Both Baker and Kehoe were victims of the budget cuts made by the Granite City School District Tuesday. Baker, Kehoe and 190 other teachers were honorably dismissed from their positions. It is possible one of the two could be called back before the beginning of the school year, but district administrators indicate few teachers will be rehired before the 1983-84 school year.

District administrators will have a difficult task ahead of them in the next few months. They will have the task of filling coaching positions at the new Granite City High School. In some sports like soccer, track and girls' softball, the district will have to hire a new coach. While in others, the district will have the difficult choice of choosing one of the head coaches from North or South to coach the new team.

Granite City is easily the best soccer city in Illinois, and the question of who will fill the head soccer job is difficult.

According to Joseph Fedora, administrative assistant for athletics and physical education, the district would prefer to hire someone from inside the school district to coach the various teams.

The only soccer coaches who remain are South assistant coach Mel Bunting and North assistant coach David Ames. Both will be teaching social studies in the district next year.

On paper, it would appear one of those two coaches would be likely to get the job, but there are other considerations that have to be made.

For instance, either Baker or Kehoe could be called back to teach next year. Both coaches have taught in the district for 10 years, and Baker has a much better chance of being called back to teach. Baker is an English teacher, and Kehoe is a physical education teacher.

Of all the teachers ahead of Baker in seniority, only two others teach high school English. On the other hand, physical education was one of the teaching areas severely hit back, and it is unlikely many physical education teachers will be rehired.

The other alternative if both Baker and Kehoe are not coaching next season and both go outside jobs is that the district could hire a coach who works outside the district.

"If we chose to go outside the district, we would have to see if the coach would have job obligations which could prevent him from coaching," Fedora said.

Fedora indicated the district is likely to take a "wait-and-see" stand on the soccer coaching position. Assignments for other Granite City activities are usually made in June, but Fedora indicated some of the assignments may be postponed because of possible teacher call-backs.

One thing is for sure, the district will lose at least one of the best soccer coaches in the state no matter who the district chooses. Baker has led South to six state soccer championships, North has never won state championship in soccer, but most of the time, it was South who took the Stealers out of the state playoffs.

Baker was named the 1982 national high school coach of the year, and Kehoe has coached professional soccer.

There is also the possibility one of the coaches could be hired by the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College to coach its soccer team.

Coaches with the reputations of Baker and Kehoe could also find jobs at other schools, junior colleges, universities and perhaps even the professional ranks. It is likely that both will receive offers to go elsewhere, but the problem for many schools is that they don't need new teachers even though they may need a new coach.

Baker and Kehoe are not the only area soccer coaches who may not have a teaching position next year. Bruno Gwardys, who has built a respectable soccer program at Edwardsville, was also dismissed from his teaching position recently because of budget cuts in the Edwardsville School District.

Altan Relays, baseball top weekend

Both Granite City North's and Madison's boys track teams are scheduled to run in the Altan Relays, the first major track meet of the season, Saturday at Altan's Public School stadium.

Meanwhile on Saturday, Granite City South goes to the University of Illinois to run in an indoor meet. It will be the boys' first meet of the season.

Today, North hosts Belleville East at 4 p.m. and South hosts Chicago Marshall at 7 p.m. On Friday, North plays defending Class A champion New Lenox-Providencia at 4 p.m. and South plays the same team at 7 p.m. Both games are at South. On Saturday, South plays Washington in a doubleheader at noon.

Hency signs with South Carolina

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

Bill Hency, an All-American midfielder for the 1982 Granite City South soccer team, has announced he will be playing collegiate soccer for the University of South Carolina.

Hency, who was named to the National Soccer Coaches of America All-American team, the Parade Magazine All-American team, and the Adidas All-American team, will receive a full scholarship to play soccer for South Carolina next year.

Although the soccer program at South Carolina is a year old, the Gamecocks compiled a 67-22-6 record during that span and made the NCAA Division I Tournament in 1979. The Gamecocks play quality competition such as Clemson and Duke during the regular season.

Mark Berson, South Carolina's soccer coach, grew up in St. Louis and learned about Hency through soccer experts in the area. When Berson found out about Hency's skills and his character, he knew Hency would be good for the Gamecocks.

"Bill Hency is a quality young man," Berson said in a telephone interview Wednesday. "He's a leader, and I know he's going to make a lot of contributions to the team in the years to come. He's looked up to by his teammates, his teachers, and the community."

Before talking to Hency, Berson made an effort to learn about the South soccer program, and Berson was impressed by what he saw.

"It's pretty well known that Coach (Gene) Baker has one of the finest high school soccer programs in the country. One of the things I look at is the quality of the program, and it's a credit to Coach Baker, the community and to the youth leagues that they produce so many players who are sound in the skill and knowledge of the game," Berson said.

Although Hency didn't say whether Hency will start next year for South Carolina, he said he will definitely make the team to lead the team next year.

"Bill is a winner both on and off the field. I think he'll be able to come in as a freshman and do some good things for us. He's the kind of player who will continue to improve as the season goes on," Berson said.

Hency had been contacted by St. Louis University, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the University of Connecticut and other universities. Berson was the main reason why Hency decided to attend South Carolina.

"The big thing was that he had all the opportunities that he did to attend the best schools not only academically, but also athletically. I really think he was one of the best players we've ever seen along with people like Dave Fernandez," Baker said. Many South Carolina soccer players have gone on to professional soccer.

Presently, there are two South Carolina players on the Olympic Development team, which is consisted of players who are likely to be on the United States Olympic team.

Traditionally, South Carolina's teams have contributed to the team in the years to come. He's looked up to by his teammates, his teachers, and the community."

One of the things I look at is the quality of the program, and it's a credit to Coach Baker, the community and to the youth leagues that they produce so many players who are sound in the skill and knowledge of the game," Berson said.

Although Hency didn't say whether Hency will start next year for South Carolina, he said he will definitely make the team to lead the team next year.

"Bill is a winner both on and off the field. I think he'll be able to come in as a freshman and do some good things for us. He's the kind of player who will continue to improve as the season goes on," Berson said.

Hency had been contacted by St. Louis University, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the University of Connecticut and other universities. Berson was the main reason why Hency decided to attend South Carolina.

"The big thing was that he had all the opportunities that he did to attend the best schools not only academically, but also athletically. I really think he was one of the best players we've ever seen along with people like Dave Fernandez," Baker said. Many South Carolina soccer players have gone on to professional soccer.

Presently, there are two South Carolina players on the Olympic Development team, which is consisted of players who are likely to be on the United States Olympic team.

Grigsby shows girls can play basketball too

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Without attracting much attention, a junior high school basketball team in Granite City has managed to win all but one game during the past two years.

That fancy record belongs to the eighth-grade girls' team at Grigsby Junior High. The Grigsby team was undefeated as seventh graders last year and this year's eighth-grade squad lost only to Roxana.

A good deal of the credit for their success belongs to their coach, John Sikora. He's held the post ever since girls' basketball was first introduced at Grigsby four years ago.

"When I first got involved with coaching the girls, I didn't know if I'd enjoy it," said Sikora, who has coached the boys' football team since Grigsby opened 15 years ago. "But, I've found I really like it a lot."

One thing is for sure, he decided they like Sikora, and the combination has resulted in winning basketball. Last year's team, both eighth-graders and seventh-graders, went undefeated. Those who played on the eighth-grade team this year finally lost a game, but ended their two-year stint with just that single blemish on their record.

"Two girls didn't come back from our undefeated seventh-grade team this year, because they moved," Sikora said. "But two more girls came and fit in so perfectly that it didn't really hurt us."

In addition to his duties in girls' basketball, Sikora coaches girls' football and track. "I'm busy all year long," he said, laughing.

The coach said he has found some differences in coaching the girls and the boys. "You have to do more basic teaching with the girls," he said. "When you get

Area softball teams look for much improvement

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

The Granite City North, Granite City South, Madison and Venice girls softball teams all have one thing in common. They all want to improve themselves this season.

None of the four teams had a winning season last year, but all four teams have some experienced people coming back for the 1983 season. All four teams expect to be somewhat better this season.

GRANITE CITY NORTH

Granite City North had the worst record of any of the four teams last season, 3-15, but the Steelheaders are likely to improve on the record this season.

"We should be a much better team because of our experience," North coach Gus Lignoul said. "We only lost three seniors from last year's team, and we have a lot of experienced people back."

Michelle Loftus at shortstop and third base, Trisha Atkinson at catcher and Gayla Lockhart in the infield are experienced seniors on the team, but much of North's experience is in the junior and senior classes.

Lisa Lilley, a two-year starter for North, Kim Muehl and Cindy Minner are juniors seeking an outfield spot. Junior Monica Fanning, who was the starting pitcher for North last year, returns to pitch.

Sophomores Michelle Morgan at third base, Kathy Hutchings and second base, Lisha Milton at first base, and Jill Werth at shortstop will also help out. Other players who could see action include Debbie Haynes, Leighann Fanning and Beth Sues.

Michelle Sikora and Morgan will be relief pitchers.

"We've got some girls who can hit the ball. On defense, we're pretty sound. We'll go as far as our pitching takes us," Lignoul said.

GRANITE CITY SOUTH

Granite City South, which finished at 3-12 last season, is very similar to North. The Warriors have plenty of experience coming back and are looking to turn the program around.

"I would think we would be a lot better," South coach Pat Adams said. "We have a lot of experienced players coming back and some new players who get to high school."

Once again, Michelle Staggs will for South, and her battery-mate is Dottie Smith. Bebe Kristoff at first base, Ellie Tistone at second, Ann Puhse at third, and Karen Sykes at shortstop fill the infield.

Outfielders for the Warriors are Kathy Juhasz, Vicki Smith and Daria Barnhart.

Teresa Seibert at second base, Lori Mills at third base, Angie Week at second base and Tracy Koenig in the outfield could see action during the season.

"Defense should be our big strong point, and we'll have a lot of speed. In one year, Michelle has improved her control very much," Adams said.

Inexperience in fast pitch softball could also hurt South. "Most of the girls teams have played in fast pitch leagues during the summer, but our haven't. It's hard to develop pitching once you get to high school."

MADISON

Madison's softball team got a late start this spring because of the success of the girls basketball team. Coach Carol Cole, who is also the girls basketball coach, couldn't start practice until Monday.

Nevertheless, Cole believes the late start won't effect Madison since the first game isn't until April 7.

Some of the Trojans who will see action this season include Kim Stanley at third base, Angela Dandridge at catcher, Stephanie Walker at shortstop, Mia Jenkins in the infield, Felicia Prothro at second base and Lori Prothro in the outfield.

Stanley and Walker are likely pitchers for Madison.

Madison was 5-6 last season, and Cole was happy about the season. "Last year, we finished .500 during the regular season, and I was very happy about that. We've looked pretty decent in practice. I feel we are good fielders, and if we can adjust to fast pitch hitting and pitching, we could be good."

"The kids are really enthusiastic about the season. In fact, some of the girls were looking forward to softball during basketball season," Cole said.

VENICE

Last season, Venice finished at 6-5, and Red Devils coach Ken Perkins was expecting a lot of experienced people back. Venice does have a few experienced people, but some of people Perkins was expecting to go out didn't.

"I can't really knock some of the girls for working because I realize some of them have to work. We're young again and a couple of others couldn't even go out."

Perkins said. Sophomore Cassandra White will pitch for Venice and freshman Julie Malorek will catch. Janice Bradley is at first base, Lynette Crawford is at second, Tracie Kizart and Letisha Miller are competing for the shortstop spot, and Demetria Walker and Tina White are competing for third base.

In the outfield, Venice has Rosie Harmon, Angie Marchbanks and Elaine Parker.

Perkins is also pleased with the freshmen he has this year. They include Avis Wiley, Jane Treadway, Angie Burnett, Shantay Bradley and Paris Pollis.

"We're kind of hurting because of our inexperience, and because the girls have to work. We just don't have the numbers out to make up for any losses we may have during the season," Perkins said.

"Our goal is to go out and work hard and do our best and to have a good time while we're playing," Perkins said.

QCSA soccer official's meeting

The Quad Cities Soccer Association will be holding a referees' clinic Monday, April 4, at 7:15 p.m. at the Park District Recreation Center on Pontoon Road and Franklin Ave. All experienced referees and anyone 14 years old or older are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Discipline is key for Madison

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

MADISON — Ron Crader, coach of the Madison Trojans' baseball team, is a bit apprehensive about the inexperience of his 1983 squad.

The first-year coach has only one returning starter from last year's team. The 1982 Trojans won only one game during the regular season.

Back then that group is Jim Smith at third base. The junior is the most experienced player Crader can field.

"Only having one returning starter makes it tough," Crader said. "We'll have to wait and see with this team because of all the new faces that will be out there."

Crader is fortunate to at least have several other lettermen returning. Most of them figure to move into a starting role this year.

Among them is junior Fred Smith, a versatile player who "works hard," according to Crader. Smith will probably see action in the outfield and may be called on to pitch, as well.

A couple of returnees, John Jackson and Chris Noud are likely to start in the infield. Jackson plays first base and Noud could start at either second or shortstop; both are juniors.

Two upperclassmen that Crader is counting on are going out for the team for the first time. Robert Robinson, a senior, will pitch and play in the infield. Crader said,

"I'm depending on him."

Crader also looks for help to come from junior Victor Valentine, who can rotate between first base and the outfield. He could be an important addition to the team, because Crader said, "I'm depending on Victor for his leadership."

The team will need that leadership, because Crader figures on starting two freshmen. He expects that Darrell Marshall will find a place in the infield and he has another freshman, John Brawley, slated to be catcher. Brawley is traditionally a leadership position.

"We'll work a lot of kids in and out of the outfield until we find the ones who do the best job," said Crader. Most of the candidates will come from the ranks of his sophomores and juniors.

Along with Robinson, Crader plans to pitch another player who joined the team for the first time this year. The junior,

Patrick Wilson, may be slowed at the beginning of the year by two jammed fingers he suffered playing basketball.

In addition, utilityman Smith and the freshman, Marshall, will probably be given a chance to pitch.

Crader said that he hopes to bring more discipline to the team. "They'll have to show good attitude and desire," he said. "Our biggest strength will be having 12 or so kids that really want to play."

Trojans track built for speed

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

Both Madison high school track teams, the boys' and the girls' have been known for their speed in the past and this season is expected to offer nothing different.

The boys' team will be featuring a rather young squad, boasting few seniors and the girls' squad will rely on some seniors for talent as well as leadership.

The Trojans will be led by senior John Lewis, who yesterday at Triad led his team to their first victory of the young season, 83-63, by bringing home a triple-first; he took the triple jump with a leap of 37 1/2", the high jump with 5'10" and the long jump, jumping 18 feet.

The Trojans took their first dual match easily, winning first in all of the short distance events.

Besides the excellent performance shown by Lewis, other good signs are going to be coming this season for the Trojans.

All the relay events are going to be strong for Madison this year. In the two-mile relay, Maurice Siles, DeLaren Young, Santos Howard and Anchor Charles Fuller will be competing for the spring. The foursome took the first yesterday by posting a time of 9:07 for the event.

In the 440 and 880 yard relays, the team of Rouzell Porter, Terrance Hicks, George Leonard and Shawn Brown is expected to keep the Trojans in the run. They posted a time of 47.58 in the race at Triad, taking first.

The Trojans are also expected to excel at the pole vault this season behind the efforts of Brian Papa and Ed Burris. The two tied at 9'5" at Triad to snare the one and two spots.

George Leonard will be holding down the hurdles, while Rouzell Porter throws shot and Sam Price hurts the discus.

The Trojannettes also looked good in what was their season debut at Triad, but lost a one point meet to the Knights, 57-56.

Coach Lavenia Long expects some big things this year from her seniors, and also expects her strengths to be the sprints and relays.

The 440 yard relay team of Rose Clay, Cheri Ware, Jovana Dillon and Jerriann Ware return this season after making it to state last year. The team took the race at Triad with a time of 55.12.

The 880 relay will be run by four seniors, Clay, Glenette Rhodes, Jerriann Ware and Dorothy Noblin. They also took their race yesterday with a time of 2:01.3.

The 880 run will be handled by Antonette Compton, who placed third at Triad and the 440 yard dash will be run by sophomore Linda Scott who won her race with a time of 71.8. Long expects Linda to be in the low 60's before the end of the year's end.

Kim Webb and Susan Beebe will be holding the job of throwing the discus and shot. At Triad, Webb won the shot with a throw of 23-12 feet, as well as the discus, with a throw of 46 feet. Beebe took second in the discus with a throw of 44 feet and third in the shot.

Antonette Compton will take the duties of long jumper this season, winning second place in the event yesterday and Shelly Smith took fourth in the event and is expected to come along well this season.

Freshman Sharley Smith will be high jumping for the Trojannettes. Smith, who Long said hadn't jumped over 3'6" in practice, came to the cold afternoon at Triad and surprised herself with a jump of 4'2".

The mile relay team is also expected to fare well. The team consists of Nodlin, Jovana Dillon, Linda Scott and Antonette Compton. The four girls took first in the event with a time of 5:05.

Laura Shanks is May queen at GCHS South; 7 on court

By ROBIN CAMPION

Laura Shanks has been chosen the 1983 May Queen at Granite City High School South. The court attendants are Kim Miller, Kathi Teitloff, Chris Kessler, Rebecca Jackson, Bonni Burns, Marti Greer, and Chris Peterson. These girls hold a special honor, because this is the last South May Day.

"I was very surprised but greatly honored and looking forward to the May Day celebration," said Queen Shanks. Laura is the daughter of J. R. and Barbara Shanks. She is an active senior, belonging to the National Honor Society, Future Secretaries Association, is captain of the Dixie Dolls Pom Squad, a member of the 1982 Homecoming Court and Tournament Wrestling Team. She plans to attend Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and work towards a bachelor's degree in business. Laura's outside activities include playing racquetball and soccer.

Miss Miller is the daughter of Dr. Earl and Sue Miller.

She is vice-president of the senior class, basketball statistician and member of the South May Court. "I was really surprised to be chosen for May Court and knew it would be an honor I would never forget," said Kim. After graduation Kim plans to continue her education at SIU-Edwardsville. Her free time is spent playing softball and soccer. She currently works as a receptionist.

Miss Teitloff is planning a career in nursing, but is undecided as to which college she will attend. She is the daughter of Thomas and Sue Teitloff. She is a varsity basketball cheerleader, student council member and member of South Leadership Athletic Club (SLAC). She also has participated in girls basketball, Pom Squad and soccer and baseball statistics. Kathi enjoys playing soccer and softball.

Chris Kessler, who is a member of the Homecoming Court, also is involved in SLAC, vice-president of the National Honor Society, captain of both varsity soccer and basketball cheerleading squads and is a track letterman. She is the daughter of Claude and Carol Kessler. Outside of school, she enjoys playing softball and soccer. Chris will attend the University of Central Florida, where she will play soccer. She plans a major in respiratory therapy of sports medicine.

"I feel really honored to be on May Court, especially because this is the last May Court for South High School. I think it will be even more special for all of us senior girls," said Miss Jackson. She is the daughter of Janet and Ronald Jackson. Becky also was a member of the Homecoming Court. She is involved in the Future Secretaries Association, Stagecraft, Red Peppers and Theban Society. Her own time is spent in such activities as soccer and softball and volleyball. Becky is involved in the co-op program.

Her plans after school are to attend Illinois State University. Another Home Coming Court member, Miss Burns also has participated in Southern Express Swing Choir, band, Modern Music

Masters and is involved in the co-op program. She is the daughter of Henry and Louise Burns. She enjoys playing racquetball. Bonni plans to get a job as a secretary immediately after graduation. "When I heard I had been chosen for May Court, I was surprised and happy," she said.

Miss Peterson is involved in Southern Express Swing Choir, High World staff, secretary and treasurer of the Explorer Post, in the homecoming play and spring musical, Quill and Scroll and Advanced Mixed Chorus. She also is employed at Mental Health Services. After school, she intends to get a job as a secretary. She is the daughter of Richard and Julia Greer.

Miss Peterson is a member of VICA Club, Quill and Scroll, Photography Club, is yearbook editor, and is in vocational drafting. Her activities are soccer and working at Dutch and Sandi Peterson. She plans to attend Illinois State University to study engineering.

BAC increases its emphasis on algebra

The Belleville Area College mathematics program has been revamped to place emphasis on courses that prepare students for college algebra and that help ensure their success in later math courses.

Math instructor John West said that 1981 results of math placement tests showed only 10 percent of those taking the test were qualified to enter a college math course.

"This is not only a local problem," West said, "Students entering college nationwide are weak in math."

"Many students have math anxiety; they fear math," West said. To help students overcome this fear, BAC has set up "special intermediate algebra" classes.

"We cover two years of high school algebra in one semester," West said, explaining that classes meet five days a week for 16 weeks. And math is not the only topic discussed. Instructors encourage students to talk about career plans and how math relates to each.

"We hope that when the student completes the course, his career choice has been made," West added.

The math program changes also have included increasing emphasis on use of computers in mathematics.

"BASIC" programming with math applications has been added and there are plans for expanded use of microcomputers in math classes, West said.

The board also:

- Appointed Karen Leyva as a bookkeeper for the Programs and Services for Older Persons.

- Appointed Daniel Cushman as a secretary in the Instructional Materials Department of the college; and

- Approved a notice of award of grant monies totaling nearly $450,000 for the Senior Nutrition Program for fiscal 1983.

LICENSES REVOKED

The driver's licenses of two Quad-City area residents have been revoked after the two were convicted of driving while under the influence (DUI) of alcohol, according to Secretary of State Jim Edgar.

Licenses revoked were those of Charles E. Futch, 23, of 45 Moorland Drive, and Trudy E. Dunnivant, 26, of 1928 Beckwith St., Madison.

Woman Involved event Saturday

A Woman Involved Day, under the auspices of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, will be conducted at the Granite City Township Hall Saturday, March 26, from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Janel Mills, chairman for the event, said professional women representing a variety of occupations will be available to discuss their profession and answer questions relating to employment.

The project is designed to show the progress women have made with regard to changing traditional professions associated with women and to enumerate the variety of fields available to women today.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend, according to the chairman.

ARREST MAN ON

Available for charge Robert W. Sorenson Sr., 46, of Granite City, was charged with aggravated assault this week when arrested at the home of Katherine Thompson, 2021 Fourteenth St.

Mr. Thompson alleged that Sorenson threatened her life by pointing a .44-caliber pistol at her during an argument. The man had hidden the pistol prior to the arrival of officers, reports stated.

STREAS COINS

Returning home during the weekend, Tom Miner, 4033 Sara St., found the front door open and a bedroom ransacked. Entry was gained by breaking a kitchen window. An effort also was made to pry open a rear door. A number of Kennedy half-dollars and silver dollars was among the loot taken.

8% levy rise: 2nd-yr. loans

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Looking farther into the future than usual, the Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night adopted an estimated 1983 tax levy of $9,372,946, compared to an approximate 1982 levy of $8,612,468 and an actual 1981 levy of $8,238,394.

Reporting a potential 8.195 percent rise in the real estate tax levy for schools, Norman S. Owca, director of finance, said current planning is based on an approximate 1982 assessed valuation of $28,413,993 and an estimated 1983 assessment of $273 million.

The recommended tax levy is needed (now instead of next fall) for us to borrow second-year tax anticipation warrants this year," he said. "In May or June 1983, we should receive an actual 1982 extended levy from the county clerk. It is planned to then present an amended 1983 levy along with an amended 1983-84 budget."

The board enacted the new levy and a budget that lists total disbursements of $28,888,862 for education, $2,189,200 for building, $1,325,422 for transportation, $576,325 for municipal retirement and $156,654 for working cash.

Deficits are projected as $7,364,515 in the education fund and $881,922 in the building fund as of July 1, 1983, worsening to $9,526,832 and $580,583 on June 30, 1984.

Owca and Board Member Monroe Worthen, an accountant, stressed that many of the figures will have to be revised as more exact revenue information becomes available in 1983, including assessments and state aid.

The board on Tuesday night authorized issuance of $1,000,000 in second-year education tax anticipation warrants when needed this spring.

Owca commented, "Our predictions of beginning second-year warrants during the early part of April are still on target."

"Since it has been projected that our borrowing needs for 1982-83 will be $7,682,027 and we will have issued $6,130,000 in first-year warrants, we will require an estimated $1,552,027 in second-year education warrants."

The 1983 levy as it currently stands designates $6,961,500 in real estate taxes for education, $1,023,750 for building, $327,600 for transportation, $136,500 for working cash, $535,600 for municipal retirement, $136,500 for fire prevention, safety, environmental and energy conservation and $251,116 for tort immunity.

In reviewing the levy and budget at a public hearing

Tuesday night, Owca said, "One numerical change has been made in the tentative budget approved Feb. 15. There was a transfer error on purchased services in the transportation fund. The correct estimate is $1,185,202 instead of $1,138,802."

The board transferred certain cost items from the education fund to the building fund, including: building-related administrative and maintenance salaries, custodial and maintenance supplies and materials, water costs, sewer and electrical bills, purchase and rental of craft equipment, and trash pickup charges.

Also, all vehicles except pupil vans and driver education autos, vehicle insurance, new and replacement equipment associated with building operations and food service, and any site acquisitions, new structures and building improvements other than those for vocational education.

In connection with taxation for safety repairs and health-related remodeling, Architect Henry Gabriel certified that a backlog of repairs and alterations totals $2,150,472. It all buildings are to conform to desired specifications.

During the public hearing, David Melton voiced uncertainty over and displeasure with the district's financial transactions and planning.

He took the Press-Record to task for "finally" publishing budget figures a day before the hearing; he apparently was unfamiliar with the newspaper's Feb. 17 budget article.

Melton, unrelated to School Treasurer Dorey Melton, said the budgeting and tax sequence in the 1980s does not appear to correlate well with changing circumstances, including the district's major cutbacks in staffing and buildings.

Worthen and Treasurer Melton backed the district's records but said little would be gained from a detailed debate at a time when it is certain that further budget revisions must be made.

Other board members responding briefly were Thomas Miesky and David Parney.

The early budgeting was described as an imprecise but necessary procedure to implement the degree of advance borrowing now being undertaken by the school system to meet its operating costs.

President Donald Stuck limited the speaker to five minutes, during which David Melton sought to analyze a variety of figures within the budget. No other citizens asked to speak during the finance hearing.

Guilty plea by Miller

Arthur Miller Jr., 35, Granite City, stated to be a key witness in the May 9 trial of his brother-in-law, Thomas R. Brimberry, pleaded guilty Wednesday to mail fraud and conspiracy to impede the Internal Revenue Service. Audit cards mailed by him are said to have confirmed that his stock account was correct.

Brimberry, now in custody at Chesterfield, Mo., was senior vice president for operations of the Stix & Co. stock brokerage until it collapsed in November 1981. Accounts had been looted of millions of dollars.

One person has pleaded guilty to charges related to Stix and another has been convicted. Trials of James Maesa and Duane Skinner are scheduled next week.

Miller is to be sentenced May 6. Potential penalties are an $11,000 fine and a ten-year term.

Miller told of splitting proceeds from his Stix account with Brimberry, and of "laundering" Stix money through Las Vegas casinos to enable Brimberry to build a mansion here. He said Stix money was used to operate Miller Excavating Co. and buy heavy equipment.

Venice cable TV plans hit another snag

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Anger and disappointment were expressed by Venice aldermen upon learning Tuesday night that a contractual agreement with a purported representative of a cable television company is apparently non-existent, as far as CATV Cable System is concerned.

A major setback in plans to install cable television in Venice was announced Tuesday night to the Venice City Council by Mayor Tyrone Echols, who prefaced his report with the comment, "I have some sober news for you."

The mayor went on to say that after several calls in an attempt to reach some agreement with the company, he was told by him and City Attorney Lawrence Hartman, the mayor had finally contacted a Mr. Kreits, president of CATV Cable System Associates in New York, who professed to know nothing of Duggan's dealings with Venice.

"Kreits knew nothing of Duggan's actions in regard to the cable franchise agreements in Venice, Centerville or Brooklyn," Mayor Echols quoted Kreits as saying.

According to Duggan, formerly worked for Kreits but had been dismissed after allegedly "getting into business for himself." Apparently, no legal suit is being brought against the former employee.

"The anxiety I have is that it has lost us about seven months," the mayor said. He was referring to assurances by Duggan that cable lines would be installed and service ready to hook up to subscribers by early spring.

From information received so far, the mayor said, "It appears...CATV isn't going to underwrite the cost and franchise it to Duggan."

On a more hopeful note, the mayor said that Kreits definitely would like to look the franchise over. Naturally he couldn't agree to anything without looking us over and seeing a copy of the ordinance.

Last Aug. 24, the Venice City Council passed an ordinance granting a non-exclusive franchise to CATV Cable System, headquartered in New York, to furnish cable TV service to the community.

Official action was taken after Duggan made a presentation before the council and the citizens at a public meeting a week earlier.

At that time, he described the proposals offered by his firm and explained the cost factors involved in installing cable television.

Duggan had initially addressed the Venice aldermen about a year before the ordinance authorizing installation of cable service was approved.

The Venice ordinance, based on first reading, primarily was based on Duggan's proposal and follows the pattern of an agreement which was then in effect at Centerville, Ill.

Included in the ordinance was an item of special interest to the aldermen, responsibility for keeping the city financially solvent, which established a five percent fee to be paid by the city from local gross revenue collected by CATV System in Venice.

(Granite City's contract with Southwestern Cable TV gives the city three percent of the base rate charged subscribers, but nothing from additional service fees.)

The Venice ordinance also specified that subject to final agreement was the maintenance in Venice of either the cable service business office or a head-in-tower. This question never had been resolved.

"Whether you'd want to engage Mr. Kreits or not is up to you. There are several other companies calling here who are interested."

"Didn't Kreits give any explanation about engineers being here?" Attorney Hartman asked.

"I think he may be more aware of what's going on than he says," Mayor Echols replied. He also has heard of several other mayors, including a Mayor Hayden in Union, Ala., whose communities are in the same situation as Venice, the local mayor said.

"CATV is not in Centerville either. I've found out," the mayor commented. "I believe they've got something called Teleational out of Florida."

"We were so patient and probably Centerville just went on and got so meone else," he added, speaking of the period of time Venice officials have waited to hear from the company.

Mayor Echols has been trying to reach CATV officials and Duggan, in particular, since early January in an effort to learn what progress was being made.

In his last contact with Duggan, Mayor Echols was informed that discussions were starting with Illinois Power, which has been trading in utility poles, but the former CATV representative also said some thought was being given to installing the cable underground.

Apparently, cable TV installation in Brooklyn (Ill.) also has not progressed passed the talking stage, it was learned.

"I don't think they (cable TV contracts) vary a heck of a lot and the cost depends on what channels you get. The bad thing is, every company has time is lost and we were put on hold."

Questioned about the legality of signing a new franchise agreement with another company, the city attorney replied, "I wouldn't be concerned to give it to someone else."

First Ward Alderman Phillip Daniels suggested that the city consider a performance bond and a date for completion should it not be included in any new contract.

"I don't think a performance bond would apply unless you could pin him down to a date and with weather and so forth. I don't know if it's feasible," the mayor replied.

In the former contract with Duggan, a $15,000 construction performance bond was required. It also states that the city reserves the right to forfeit the franchise and terminate the agreement for specific reasons after 30 days notice is given by the cable company.

It is probably no longer applicable is a paragraph which states the firm must be granted a hearing before the council and allowed time for corrections to be made prior to the agreement being dissolved.

Mayor Echols intends to contact the Alabama mayor and also officials in Centerville, he advised the aldermen.

Barton testifies at pre-trial hearing

Lawyers representing

Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton argued Tuesday that the county official was tricked into giving statements about his bribery case while Assistant State Attorney Thomas Long was present.

In a hearing Tuesday on the defense motion to suppress evidence from Nov. 5 statement, Barton contended that he believed Long was representing him at the pre-trial hearing which was conducted by Division of Criminal Investigation Agent Joe Juenger.

United Circuit Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson said he would rule later on the motion.

Juenger testified for the prosecution Tuesday that Barton admitted during the interview that he took $1,000 from William Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area landowner, in order to influence Walter "Shang" Great-house, a member of the zoning board of appeals.

Because Long had represented him in the past concerning county matters, Barton said that he thought the assistant state's attorney was present at the interview as his counsel. The hearing was the first time Barton had testified in his own defense.

Testimony by Long indicated that he had, in the past, provided counsel for Barton and that he was friendly with the county official. Long, however, said that he did not believe Barton was a defendant in the case.

Barton is being prosecuted for Barton's resignation but the official has contended he is innocent and has refused to resign.

Orthodox Church service at Belleville church

The Orthodox churches of the greater St. Louis area will celebrate the Sunday of Orthodoxy this year with a Vespers Service at S.S. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, Huntwood Rd., Belleville, on March 27 at 4 p.m.

On the first Sunday of its Great Lent - this year March 27 - the Orthodox Church celebrates its very claim to this title in the commemoration known as the Sunday (or Triumph) of Orthodoxy. In the Orthodox Church a tremendous theological battle was waged with varying intensity, though with marked persistence, between the years 730-843 over the appropriateness of using and venerating holy images (icons) with the life of the church's worship.

Historically, this is known as the "Iconoclastic Controversy." The Orthodox faithful prevailed when, on March 11, 843, during the reign of the young Byzantine emperor Michael III and his mother Theodora, who was acting as regent, an impressive liturgical service was celebrated in which the veneration of icons was solemnly restored never again to be challenged.

This specific event is the historical basis for the Sunday of Orthodoxy, celebrated to this day with a liturgical procession of icons in which the faithful proclaim their liturgical, spiritual, and theological continuity with the Holy Tradition of the church.

"And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him."

Many different emotions are stirred in believers by the word "Calvary." Hearts pound, eyes fill with tears, faith in God soars to higher heights - these are just a few of the emotions released when we speak of Calvary!

Many will say, "Is this not the place where the King of the Jews was crucified? Is this not the place where your exalted leader proved He had no power at all? Not A thousand times no! You see, it was for this purpose He came. He was born to die. Jesus said, 'No man takes my life from me; I have the power to lay it down and I have the power to take it up again.' Jesus' most powerful testimony was that He fulfilled His Father's will on this earth."

When our Lord bowed His head on the Cross of Calvary and said, "It is finished," He was saying to Satan - you are finished, I have won!

Let Calvary lift you up, today.

Amendment by Dixon on jobs staff

Senator Alan J. Dixon has successfully attached an amendment to HR 1716, the Emergency Jobs Appropriations bill, which he says could save the government $2 billion by allowing states more discretion in the hiring of staff needed to process unemployment insurance claims.

While not adding any new money to the bill, the amendment calls for half of the $276,100,000 in advances to the unemployment insurance trust fund to be made available for permanent rather than temporary staff, at the states' discretion.

Dixon noted that these states process 5.5 million claims per week and there are only enough permanent employees to handle 2.1 million claims per week. The remaining 3.4 million claims are processed by temporary personnel.

Citing a study by the Department of Labor which found a direct relationship between inadequate unemployment insurance staff levels and payment errors, Dixon said the federal administration expected $1.1 billion in erroneous payments based on an average unemployment rate of 7.4 percent. With unemployment levels expected to be over 10 percent for this year, the cost of payment errors could be over $2 billion.

"Allocating $138,050,000 for permanent staff, to be used at the states' discretion, could increase the number of claims that can be processed by permanent staff to 2.8 million per week," Dixon said. "This simple change, which could save taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars, is a most prudent one."

Wells was unable to remember what occurred prior to the accident and Mrs. Naomi Wells, a passenger, said her husband appeared to "black out" just before the crash.

Doctors' Dialogue

Dear Doctor,

I recently had surgery and found this information on a copy I received: "Heart is small in size, with elongation and calcification of the thoracic aorta. Pulmonary calcifications are present without coalescent infiltrate, plural effusion, or pulmonary venous congestion. Impression: mild hyperaeration with pulmonary calcifications. Atherosclerotic aorta."

Also, my cholesterol was indicated at 220. Is that high?

M. H.

Dear M. H.:

This information sounds like a report on the findings of a routine chest X-ray, most of which are findings due to the normal aging process. And the cholesterol finding is normal.

In your letter, you mention that you are under a doctor's care. You should feel free to contact your physician if you have questions regarding your diagnosis or treatment. I am sure he will be happy to answer them for you.

HOW TO MAKE THE MOST MONEY YOUR MONEY CAN MAKE.

With all the different interest rates it's hard to decide how to get the most for your money. One way to eliminate this uncertainty is to look in today's high rates with one of our longer term CD's.

You can open one of these certificates for just $500. But with rates like these, you'll want to put most of your money to work making the most it possibly can.

	Current Interest Rate* %	Effective Annual Yield %

Shaw says college fund hike is essential

By KENNETH A. SHAW
STU Chances

Illinois must spend more money on higher education to prepare our citizens and our economy for the profound changes which Illinois will be facing over the next decades. And spending more money can only occur if we increase taxes, and increase them significantly.

Three considerations support the idea that we must invest now to improve our future: (1) the trend of our economy and the implications for our citizens of that trend; (2) the ten-year old budget difficulties faced by higher education in Illinois; and (3) the significance of recently approved Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) budget increase requests in relation to economic development in the state.

First, our economy. We must not allow the recession to mask fundamental economic shifts profoundly affecting Illinois.

Our state and nation are moving from an economy dominated by agriculture and heavy industry to one heavily dependent on service and high technology industries.

Today, three percent of our labor force feeds our population, whereas in 1900 it took 40 percent. Manufacturing accounts for 35 percent of the labor force, as opposed to 69 percent during the post-World War II boom.

These jobs in agriculture and manufacturing are being replaced by jobs in service and high technology areas.

Today, about 46 percent of our labor force is employed in information development, delivery, services or regulation.

In this new economic world, the word "productivity" takes on new meaning.

According to economist Edward Denton, the two most important factors in U.S. productivity are: (1) the introduction of new knowledge (from basic and applied research); and (2) the amount of education that employees have received.

Providing educational opportunities and creating new knowledge are the historical and essential missions of Illinois colleges and universities.

Without a strong system of higher education, our current competitive position and our future competitive potential, economically, will be lost.

A nationwide study conducted for the Joint Economic Committee of the U.S. Congress recently concluded that the Midwest is in a prime position to benefit from the expansion of high technology industries.

It also revealed that the presence of quality academic institutions and the availability of quality educated manpower are prime factors in determining the location of such industries.

Clearly, our economy is changing. Clearly, also, never before in our history has there been a greater need for what higher education has to offer.

Second, the financial difficulties facing higher education in this state:

1. State support for higher education has declined during the last decade by 20 percent in unfunded dollars.

This decline has come during a period when enrollments increased by 35 percent.

2. Illinois' ten-year record of financial support for higher education is one of the worst in the nation. Illinois ranks 50th among the 50 states in the percentage increase in operating funds for higher education during the last decade.

3. Whether measured by expenditures per $100 of personal income, by expenditures per student, or by dilutes of total expenditures devoted to higher education, Illinois today would require from $325 million to $375 million to meet the national average.

4. We can no longer effectively compete with either private industry or out-of-state institutions for highly qualified faculty, particularly in areas directly related to economic development.

In short, at a time when we need them, the higher education tools to assist in economic development are in bad shape, and steadily getting worse.

Third, how the IBHE budget relates to economic development. For example, $475 million of the IBHE budget will be spent in revitalizing university engineering programs and $2.75 million is allocated for computer science, technology, and other programs of high student demand.

For community colleges, $3.3 million is earmarked for vocational and basic skills instruction and other economic development activity.

For the private sector a $300 increase is provided in the Illinois State Scholarship maximum award.

This increase will greatly assist those students who wish to attend a private school and will also provide much needed financial assistance to private colleges and universities.

If no tax increase is forthcoming to fund the IBHE budget, the recent "doomsday" budget presented by Governor Thompson will result in great damage to Illinois higher education — and will effectively eliminate the major contribution to economic recovery which it could deliver if adequately funded.

If one believes that economic circumstances are changing and that human capital will be our greatest resource in the future, as I do, then it's clear that higher education must play a major role in this state's future economic development and that a tax increase is necessary for the welfare of everyone in Illinois.

A parable that I particularly like is pertinent. It concerns a retired French diplomat who returned from a tour of Southern America with a rare tree for his garden.

He gave the tree to his gardener, who immediately began investigating the proper method of nurturing it. In a short while, the gardener came to the Frenchman and told him that even with proper care the tree would not blossom for 20 years.

Without hesitation, the Frenchman responded, "Very well, we must not waste time, we must plant the tree today."

Today is not too soon to begin planting that tree, for the benefit of our children and our grandchildren.

Ranft heads inland port association

Carl Ranft, general manager of the Tri-City Regional Port, has been elected president of the Inland Rivers, Ports and Terminals Association (IRPTA) at its ninth annual meeting.

"The Inland Waterways Economy" was the theme of the recently-concluded annual meeting in St. Louis. The IRPTA is the nation's largest organization dedicated to serve and promote the interests and healthy growth of all the ports and terminals, private and public, located on the nation's Inland Waterway System. Ranft was one of the founders of the organization nine years ago.

The inland waterway system, the "Fifth Great Coast," is an integral part of the healthy economic base of our nation, Ranft said. The IRPTA has members representing terminals, ports and barge lines from St. Paul to New Orleans and from Omaha to Pittsburg and many other inland areas.

The three-day conference included numerous speakers and panel discussions, addressing issues important to IRPTA members, including project financing, Maritime Administration programs, planned improvements in customs regulation and services, the Export Trading Company Act, flood insurance programs and improvements to inland waterways development. Among the guest speakers were: Kenneth J. Rothman, lieutenant governor of Missouri; Peter Dispensier, regional commissioner of the U.S. Customs Service; Howard Walters, deputy maritime administrator of the U.S. Department of Transportation; Major General William E. Read, commanding general of the U.S. Army Engineer Division, Lower Mississippi River; and Col. Gary Beech, commander of the U.S. Army Engineer's District at St. Louis.

Ranft takes over the organization's presidency from Howard D. Margraff of St. Louis Terminals Corporation in St. Louis.

MANAGER REPORTS BEING THREATENED

The man frequently lets himself into the building and sleeps in the rooms of tenants, the manager advised. The same person also intimidates those residing there and steals their possessions, he added.

This course has been approved by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education to meet the needs of those nurses seeking to activate a currently inactive Illinois R.N. license. The Illinois Nurses' Association also has approved the course for 103 contact hours of continuing education credit.

Registration is $100 with a deadline for registration of April 1. Classes will hold a maximum of 15 participants. All participants must have proof of professional liability coverage which will be in effect during course dates.

To register, or for more information, interested persons may call Donna Fisher, nursing education coordinator, at 798-3258, or may write to her in care of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, Ill. 62040.

SHRINKING COLLEGE FUNDS TO BE TOPIC

Six Belleville Area College administrators have been asked to speak at the Illinois Trustees Association's April meeting. They will discuss "how colleges can continue to move forward despite decreasing financial resources."

Associate deans speaking will be Clay Baltman of Mascoutah, Rita Heberer of Freeburg and James A. Cox, Donald Koleson, Dr. Richard Melinder and Arthur Parrish, all of Belleville. Their presentation from 3:30 to 4:15 p.m. April 8 in St. Louis will be part of a two-day workshop to help college board members deal with shrinking revenues for higher education.

Quicker release for state prisoners

Director Michael P. Lane of the Illinois Department of Corrections says eight work release programs will close July 1 so that the agency may remain within its proposed budget. Prison inmates will return to society faster as a result of the plan.

Lane pointed out that seven community correctional centers have been closed during the last year. Three were located in Chicago and others in Peoria, Lake County and Ogle County as well as two spaces for women in Rockford.

With the new closings, the space in community centers will be reduced from a high of 802 in 21 centers last year to 282 in six programs as of July. The facilities will be phased out beginning June 1.

"Because of severe fiscal constraints, the agency must continue to eliminate space," Lane said. "Since inmates in work release programs are completing their prison terms, reductions in community centers will decrease the overall capacity for imprisoned adults in the corrections system."

Lane identified the community correctional centers (CCC) to be closed as the River Bend CCC in East Moline, Winnebago CCC in Rockford, Jessie "Ma" Houston CCC for women in Chicago, Joliet CCC, Fox Valley CCC in Aurora, Urbana CCC, Decatur CCC and Southern Illinois CCC in Carbondale.

The River Bend facility will become part of the adjacent East Moline Correctional Center. It will become a work camp administered by the minimum security prison.

Work camps differ from community centers in that inmates are not released into the community for employment but perform public service jobs in the area.

According to Lane, the community centers which will remain open include the Metro CCC in Chicago, the East St. Louis CCC, the Joliet CCC in Chicago, two bed spaces for women at the Sojourn House in Springfield and the Salvation Army CCC in Chicago, which operates separate programs for men and women.

The Salvation Army, Joe Hall and Sojourn House programs are operated by private organizations under contract with the DOC. The Salvation Army program for women will be expanded by 10 spaces.

As has been the agency's practice, employees who will be laid off due to community center closings will be assisted in finding jobs at other DOC facilities.

Governor James R. Thompson has announced formation of an Illinois Corrections Task Force to evaluate the state's corrections needs and propose long-range plans for meeting them.

He named Peter Bensinger, past director of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and director of the Illinois Department of Corrections when it was formed in 1970, to chair the task force.

It is expected to complete its work in about six months. First meeting of the 25 members is scheduled for April 4 in Chicago.

"The incarceration of criminals is a complex, demanding and expensive necessity," Thompson said. "It is imperative that we spend our corrections dollars prudently in this time when every state dollar is needed."

"This is a diverse and tremendously competent group, with representatives from the legislative, budgetary, administrative and private sectors. They will evaluate Illinois' corrections needs, develop options available to meet those needs and propose a long-range plan, including costs."

"I am not looking for stereotype response. I am looking for new directions, where appropriate, which will work."

Specific task force areas, the governor said, will include:

1. Inmate population and projections, including the impact of determinate sentencing and early release.
2. Community-based corrections.
3. Prison housing — conversions of existing state facilities.
4. Classification of inmates.
5. Alternatives to incarceration.

Members of the task force include Michael J. Mahoney, executive director, John Howard Association, and Richard M. Daley, Cook County state's attorney.

Legislation would reduce interest on unemployment

The Senate has approved legislation co-sponsored by Senator Alan J. Dixon (D-Illinois) that will reduce by $30 million to 40 million over three years the unemployment insurance debt owed the federal government by the state of Illinois.

The measure, also co-sponsored by Senator Charles H. Percy, was approved by the Senate as an amendment to the Social Security Reform Act.

The amendment was not included in the House-passed version of the bill and will be resolved by House and Senate conferees.

The measure will eliminate the accrual of interest in the interest payments being deferred under an assistance package proposed by the Senate Finance Committee. In other words, Illinois will not have to pay the "interest on interest" of the assistance plan.

Dixon described the proposal as part of a "partnership of responsibility" between the federal government and the state of Illinois, which is itself working on a package to help alleviate the more than $2 billion owed the federal government by the state.

"The state should, and is, showing a good-faith effort at making changes in its system which will contribute to improved solvency," Dixon said. "Unemployment is a national problem, however, and it is right for the federal government to be involved in adding states to pay back their debts."

Brooklyn woman says she was raped

Madison County Sheriff's Department detectives are investigating the alleged rape of a 24-year-old Brooklyn woman found by police at Bend Road east of Route 3.

The victim told deputies that she was raped March 16, after 1:30 a.m., when she accepted a ride from a man she met outside an East St. Louis tavern.

Detective Sgt. James E. Newsome said a suspect has been questioned and the investigation may lead to additional interrogation and tests.

St. Clair County sheriff's deputies saw the victim walking near Route 3 and, when they questioned her, she said she had been raped.

The deputies were led to believe the incident occurred within the Madison County Sheriff's Department venue and contacted that office.

After accepting a ride with the man, he told her he knew a shortcut and drove off of Route 3 to Old Eagle Park Road.

The victim said that they drove past two police cars, but, when contacted, the officers told Madison County deputies they did not recall a vehicle passing them.

She alleged that the man told her not to try and get out of the car. When he parked the car, she said she tried to escape, but he grabbed her at the rear of the vehicle and forced her back in. She told deputies she was tried to perform a sexual act. She said that after performing another sexual act, he struck her in the face.

He told her to get out of the vehicle and then he drove away, she said.

Newsome said more information is needed before charges are filed.
